Florence Chadwick's Day

Hi! Our television set and Mom Chadwick really got a work-out Tuesday. It was the day of the annual all-star baseball game at Cleveland.

There are people who just read the box scores and then there are people who go to most of the games and know the batting averages of nearly every player in the big leagues. Then there is Mom Chadwick, one of the hottest baseball fans in the United States of America and surrounding territory.

Believe it not, Mom used to be the manager and coach of a pretty good sand-lot team in San Diego. Her players were all around 21 years old and Mom really had them hustling, especially my brother, Dick, who was captain of the team. The last year Mom had the team, it won the championship of San Diego in its division. Mom then decided to retire, undefeated.

Well, Tuesday was baseball day around our house. We sat around the TV set and ate our meals in the living room. Fortunately, most of our visitors were baseball fans and Mom was a real hostess, whipping up ham sandwiches and potato chips for everyone.

I think, if National League manager Walt Alston had listened to Mom's advice on pitchers, the American League would never have won the game. Mom got quite furious with Mr. Alston when he failed to take out a pitcher who was getting his ears batted off.

Do you remember my young friend Mark, who brought me some raspberries last week? He was back again this week and he brought me some mint candy bars, the very same kind the mountain climbers used for energy when they climbed Mt. Everest. Mark says I shouldn't have too much trouble with the Strait if I eat these bars. With my sweet tooth, the bars may not last that long.

Wilson Motors has come up with something new in the automobile line. They have printed up a huge bundle of colored post cards, with a picture of me in the big Oldsmobile they are lending me. I am signing every one of the cards and will be only too happy to give one to anyone who is interested.

Arbitrator Named for City Dispute

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today appointed a one-man arbitration board to settle Victoria outside workers' dispute with city council.

Letters were mailed to the union and council this morning announcing his appointment, but as yet the labor department has not released his name.

The arbitrator will conduct hearings, and the dispute will be settled on the basis of his findings. Both council and the union have agreed the findings shall be binding on both parties.

The joint request for appointment of an arbitrator was made in a meeting with deputy labor minister William Sands.

12 Montreal Children Drowned As Motorboat Capsizes on Lake

MONTREAL (CP)—Grim-faced rescue workers today resumed dragging operations for the bodies of eight of 12 Negro children drowned Tuesday in Lake of Two Mountains when they became panic-stricken and capsized a heavily-laden pleasure boat.

Victims of the tragedy, worst in Montreal's history, were five to 11 years old.

Four bodies had been recovered when police halted dragging operations at dark Tuesday night. No additional bodies had been recovered several hours after the search was resumed at dawn.

Officials of the Negro community centre, sponsors of the ill-fated picnic, said eight children—four boys and four girls—are still unaccounted for and presumed at the bottom of the picturesque lake, 20 miles north-west of Montreal.

The mass drowning, followed a well-meaning gesture of a holidaying Montrealer, Jack Seligman, owner of a cottage on the lake, was himself enjoying a picnic with his son and friends at a sandy inlet on the north side of Ile Bizard when he noticed the group of 62 Negro children, ranging in age from six to 10.

As a special treat, he offered to take them for a ride in his 15-foot motorboat. He made two five-minute runs with two groups of youngsters without incident.

On the third, as he rounded a diving raft some 100 yards from shore, a wave broke over the boat. The children became panicky, some of them leaping into the water. As Seligman and Phil Harrison, a counsellor at the day camp, attempted to pull them back into the boat, it capsized.

Horrified vacationers on the beach leaped into the water and

Tax Deductions?

CALGARY (CP)—The Canadian Housebuilders' Association urged Tuesday that municipal taxes and mortgage interests should be deductible from income tax for all home owners, the same as in the United States.

Valdes Enjoys Pull

NEW YORK (UP)—Nino Valdes of Cuba had a 13½-pound weight advantage over Tommy (Hurricane) Jackson today at the weigh-in for tonight's nationally televised 10-round heavyweight bout at Madison Square Garden. Valdes weighed 204 pounds and Jackson 190½.

Raging Creek Recedes

PIPESTONE, Minn. (UP)—The raging Pipestone Creek, which swept over 30,000 acres of rich farmland in western Manitoba, receded today just as swiftly as it had risen. Joe Sarafin, game warden here, said the creek dropped five feet at Butler, Man., in a 24-hour period.

'LET'S HAVE A TRIP'

Princess Orders 'Copter Into Driving Rainstorm

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany (UP)—Princess Margaret rode a helicopter into a driving rainstorm for 20 minutes today until the weather forced her to land. She thus achieved her desire to become the first of Britain's royal women to ride one of the craft.

Margaret, determined to beat a jinx which had washed out three attempts to fly by helicopter in the past two days of her tour of West Germany, ordered Flight-Lieutenant J. R. Dowling to take off this morning despite the lowering weather.

"Let's have a trip anyway," she said and boarded the craft for a flight to Senmelaeger to inspect British armored troops. But the rainstorm and black clouds were too much for Dow-

SECRET JET BOMBER CRASHES IN BRITAIN

CRANFIELD, England (UP)—The world's first crescent-winged jet bomber, the giant four-engined Handley Page Victor, crashed today, killing its crew of four. The plane was the only model of the jet bomber. It had been described as "so perfect it could land by itself." The crash was the latest in a series of "jinx" disasters which have befallen British jet planes. The crescent-winged Victor, a prototype of planes now on super-priority production orders for the RAF, could fly near the speed of sound. It was 100 times as powerful as the heaviest Second World War bomber.

WRANGLE WITH CHURCHILL

Pension Chiang Attlee Demands

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill engaged in a violent quarrel today with Labor leader Clement Attlee over the issue of seating Communist China in the United Nations.

The prime minister rose in the House of Commons to attack Attlee's statement that the Korean war could not be settled without seating Peiping in the UN and handing over Formosa, seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, to the Communists.

BRISTLES WITH ANGER—Bristling with anger, Churchill declared:

"I am sure to choose a moment as this to try to force the entry of Communist China into the UN would be to complicate altogether the very grave affairs we have to deal with in so many other spheres and would be regarded as a most harsh and uncalled-for act of unfriendliness by the mighty people of the United States, to whom we owe much and from whom more than the Labor government."

Attlee spoke today in a one-day debate mainly concerned with Churchill's report Monday on his talks in Washington last month with President Eisenhower. The prime minister had recommended placing the question of Communist China's UN seat in cold storage because of Red China's behavior in Korea and Indo-China.

Attlee recommended that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be "pensioned off" and his island capital of Formosa be handed over to Communist China.

OTHER POINTS

Attlee also suggested: 1. U.S. State Secretary Dulles should return to the Indo-China talks at Geneva since his absence is "playing right into the hands of the Communists."

2. The United States should not threaten to cut off aid to France and Italy if they fail to ratify the European Army treaty.

3. The anti-Communist invasion of Guatemala was "a plain matter of aggression."

Attlee began by criticizing the "rather uninformative" statement Monday from Prime Minister Churchill to the House on his talks in Washington last month with President Eisenhower.

If there are differences between U.S. and British foreign policies, Attlee said, "they should be stated."

On a Korean settlement Attlee said: "I suggest that the thing that stands in the way of a settlement is precisely this—Formosa and a seat on the UN."

Premier Bennett will leave Vancouver Aug. 11 on a tour of northern British Columbia and the Yukon, his office announced today. Exact itinerary was not yet decided.

However, it was announced the premier will open the Dawson Creek, B.C., fair, Aug. 13, then drive to Fort St. John where he will turn on the domestic gas supply for the area Aug. 14.

WASHINGTON (UP)—Sen. Ralph E. Flanders (R-Vt.) said today he plans to ask the senate next Tuesday to oust Sen. Joseph P. McCarthy from his committee chairmanships.

Prairie Crop 'Improved' Survey Shows

OTTAWA (BUP)—The Bureau of Statistics reported a "general improvement" in prairie crop conditions today, after two weeks of gloomy reports hinting at threatened crop losses.

Warm weather and generally adequate moisture supplies had promoted "rapid growth in most areas" of the three western provinces, today's report said. It reported that there was still a threat to crops from rust, hail and insects, but damage so far had been light.

Early-seeded grains are beginning to head-out, especially in southern areas, the report said. However, a large part of the western grain this year was seeded late, and development at the present time varies greatly.

Britain-U.S. Agree On Bonn Sovereignty

WASHINGTON (UP)—The United States and Britain have agreed upon a proposal to grant sovereignty to Germany.

France falls to ratify the European Defense Community.

Secretary of State John Foster Dulles has given that information to Congress. In a letter to Chairman Robert B. Chipfield (R-Ill.) of the house foreign affairs committee, Dulles said, however, that under the proposal the rearmament of Germany would "be deferred for the time being."

Toronto Controllers Walk Out As New Mayor Bars Reporters

TORONTO (BUP)—Toronto's new mayor, Leslie Saunders, cancelled a "secret" board of control meeting today after two controllers walked out because he would not admit the press.

The two controllers denounced Saunders for what they called "autocracy," and the mayor shouted at newsmen trying to attend the meeting: "You'll obey me."

Saunders had called the all-day meeting, which he described as a conference, to discuss business which was said to include a mortgage held against the harbor commission and the resignation of parks commissioner Oscar Pearson.

When he announced the press would be barred, both controller Roy Belyea and controller David Balfour left the meeting. Belyea charged Saunders with trying to conduct a "benevolent autocracy." Balfour said he would have "no part" of conducting public business except in public.

After the two controllers left, three Toronto news reporters walked into the meeting and said their editors had instructed them to cover it.

Signing May Come On Monday

U.S., Britain, France Reported To Be in Agreement on Formula

By EDWARD M. KORRY

PARIS (UP)—High diplomatic sources said tonight that the United States, France and Britain have worked out a "deal" to pave the way for the signing of an Indo-China peace, possibly by Monday.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was said by these sources to have agreed with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to accept a peace based on partition of Viet Nam—largest of the three Indo-Chinese states—and neutralization of Laos and Cambodia.

Dulles also won President Eisenhower's approval for Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith to return to Geneva on Saturday to sit in on the final negotiations.

Eden and Mendes-France returned to Geneva this afternoon and Eden immediately paid a call on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov. Geneva dispatches said negotiators there believe the peace agreement will be wrapped up and ready for signature by Monday.

ALLIED PLEDGE

In exchange for this modification of United States policy, these sources said, France and Britain have pledged to help work out a plan to guarantee southeast Asia against any future Communist aggression and to strike back the moment Red invaders attempt any new conquests.

Dulles is flying back to Washington tonight to report in detail on the Paris agreements to President Eisenhower. The United States abandoned its "hands-off" policy on the Geneva conference after emergency meetings which began Tuesday night and concluded today among Dulles, Mendes-France and Eden.

Mendes-France is pressing for an agreement on Indo-China within six days and Dulles apparently became convinced during his talks here that the prospects for an "honorable" peace are good.

A four paragraph communique announced the decision to return Smith to the conference but at Dulles' insistence it underlined that he would do so "without departure from the principles" the U.S. previously had laid down.

TOKYO (UP)—Sea and air forces of the United States and its allies were prepared today to race to Haiphong and Hanoi if Communist attacks force an Indo-Chinese "Dunkirk."

The U.S. Navy said its forces in the Far East were "available" in case Washington orders them to go to the rescue of foreign nationals, French troops and possibly thousands of Viet Nameese natives who choose to flee the Communists.

Root of the battle is a claim by the anti-Drews that the provincial party has been deserted and that Social Credit has been aided in the provincial field, with the consent of Drew.

General Pearkes called the non-confidence motion "an appalling and unheard of thing," and asked for a conference between Finlayson and B.C. federal Conservative leaders in an attempt to iron out the dispute.

MP QUIT; NEW REVOLT THREATENS CHURCHILL

LONDON (Reuters)—A Conservative member of parliament resigned today from the party as a protest against Prime Minister Churchill's Egypt and Sudan policy.

His action highlighted a fresh rebellion by about 40 of the prime minister's back-bench supporters in parliament over the Anglo-Egyptian Suez Canal zone base negotiations. The resigning Conservative, Maj. E. A. H. Legge-Bourke, told reporters today: "I will continue to sit in parliament as an Independent . . . though my resignation has been precipitated by the government's decision to reopen negotiations with Egypt on terms which include the total evacuation of British troops from Egyptian territory, my disagreement with the present Conservative party lies deeper than this."

He declared: "From Palestine, Burma, India, Persia, the Sudan and now Egypt the ignominious retreat has gone on."

How to Make Waterproof Stones

That's the problem occupying engineers called to assist in final phases of Christ Church Cathedral "West Front" construction. Wall stones are brought here from where nature made them, but corner and decorative pieces are moulded on the job. Sought is a labor-saving method of producing stone that won't get spongy. Grouped around experiment are, left to right (rear), chief testing engineer James Barber, job foreman, Bill McKenzie, architect's representative Reg Dove. Front are model maker Bert Norris and engineer Len Crisp at the scales. (Times photo by Strickland.)

Science Weds Olden-Day Skills In Cathedral's Man-Made Stones

By PETE LOUDON
A pair of testing engineers who have analyzed everything from the tensile strength of steel bridges to the contents of a race horse's stomach are working today at Christ Church Cathedral.

James Barber and Len Cripps, equipped with slide rules, test tubes, beakers and a dinky little set of sand pile scales, have moved in on the masons and stone cutters. They are the latest to join the task of pushing two 150-foot towers into the sky on the cathedral's "West Front."

Their aim is to cut labor 50 per cent and costs by 25 per cent in the final half of the giant edifice which has been building since 1926. Cost of completion may surpass $750,000, according to some estimates.

MAN-MADE STONES

The two engineers are primarily concerned with experiments which will improve the texture of the many "man-made stones" which are going into the towers. Stones for the walls are brought here from Newcastle Island and eight stone cutters, relics of a rare trade, who have come here from several corners of Europe, shape them by hand.

But the stone in the ornate cornices which decorate the towers is actually man made of a cement and sandstone composition in a complicated formula. Two sections are poured and hardened in plaster of Paris casts. So far the tradesmen have not been able to compete with nature in producing stones.

Mr. Barber says: "We are trying to devise a new system of making the stones, cut labor costs and make a waterproof product." The best stones produced so far often tend to get spongy, he adds.

Employed by a large B.C. firm of consulting and inspecting engineers, Mr. Barber says his company is called upon to test all manner of things, but most tests are made in the laboratory. That is where he says he sampled the inner mysteries of a race horse when a racing commission suspected that dobbin had been doped.

Watching the engineers closely are men from the contractor's and architect's crew who are jealously devoted to the cathedral project.

Reg Dove, architect, representative for the firm which picked up where the construction left off 25 years ago, was on the job in those early days too. So was Bert Norris, the oldest man on the job today, who works as a model maker.

Mr. Dove has been engrossed with what might prove to be the biggest jigsaw puzzle in history. He says that when work halted and the nave and baptistry were consecrated in 1929, huge piles of cut stone lay ready for the West Front. The blocks had been cut by R. W. Marsh, who now in his eighties spends his retirement here, often as "sidewalk superintendent."

But before the work recommenced, the distinguishing numbers were off the stones and to

Disease Feared In Wake of Rising Danube

Citizens Warned To Boil Water

VIENNA (Reuters)—The flooding Danube defied hopes and predictions today and continued to rise in Vienna and eastern Austria, bringing with it a new danger—disease.

At midnight Tuesday night the Danube had passed the 28-foot mark, engulfing streets and houses in the suburbs.

As 12,000 police and firemen and armies of volunteers continued to patch dikes, man pumps and evacuate stranded citizens, the authorities turned their attention to the new danger.

Polluted water supplies made a large-scale epidemic an imminent danger and inhabitants of flooded areas have been warned to drink only boiled water.

Meanwhile, plans are being made to move all children and some adults from certain areas to reduce the risk of epidemics, the governor of lower Austria said. About 20,000 persons are already said to be homeless in this area.

NEW YORK — Grantland Rice, 73, dean of sports writers.

HOLLYWOOD — Irving Pichel, 63, director of the film "Martin Luther."

JUST for the RECORD

COMFORTING: In Timmins, Ont., Mrs. A. Hamelin turned on her kitchen tap to get a drink of water. Out of the spout and into the glass swam a live leech, about two inches long.

Mrs. Hamelin promptly lost her thirst, but Mayor J. W. Spooner soothed her fears.

"It probably was the cleanest and healthiest bloodsucker in town because it had been washed and chlorinated," he said.

ENCHANTED: In Erding, Germany, U.S. Army helicopter pilot sliding in flood rescue work in Bavaria told this one Tuesday:

He plucked several marooned people from a farm house. Later he took a man from a houseboat who looked vaguely familiar.

"Didn't I bring you out a few hours ago?" the pilot asked.

"Yes," replied the man. "I enjoy riding in a helicopter so I went back by rowboat."

PROPER: In Denver, Colo., Cecil Davis, 43, complained in municipal court yesterday that his wife, Florina, 36, hit him on the head with a hammer.

Quite properly, too, the court decided, dismissing a assault charges against Mrs. Davis and sentencing her husband to 15 days in jail for drunkenness.

POSER: In Chicago an alleged bad cheque artist was trapped by a picture he posed for when he bought a Polaroid camera with a rubber cheque. When the cheque bounced, the salesman remembered the writer had insisted on a demonstration of the camera and had posed for the picture.

INDIAN BOY DROWNED

PORT ALBERNI—Edward David, six-year-old Indian child, drowned here Monday night after an accident while playing with other Indian children on a log boom.

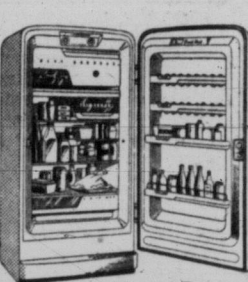

Searchers found his body Tuesday morning in shallow water near Polly's Point, near the city limits.

According to reports, he was one of two children who fell into the water from the boom, but the second was pulled to safety by a companion.

The boy disappeared between logs in the boom. The accident occurred at 9.30 p.m., and police were notified just before midnight.

It is understood the child is from Tofino, and that his mother is a patient in West Coast General Hospital.

U.S. Beauties

Among the beautiful girls representing American interests at the Miss Universe contest in California will be Jane Arnold, 18, left; from Florida; and Rosemary Tolucci, right, of Florida; and Judy Henn, 18, trying on crown, above, who will represent Northern California. Below, H. D. Quigg recalls Lord Byron's comment "I hate a dumpy woman" and wonders what the celebrated writer of "Don Juan" would have done in this sort of company.

Apology Tendered B.C. Power Directors

In the July 8 issue of the Times appeared a news story dealing with the stock option incentive plan instituted by the B.C. Power Corporation for a number of its top officials.

As part of this item The Times quoted The Vancouver Sun as saying that directors of the company, as well as full-time employed officials, received stock options.

The Sun, and The Times, have since learned that the directors of the company were not included in the stock options, which were designed as an incentive scheme to improve efficiency of company operations. This was explained in a statement by W. C. Mainwaring, company vice-president, in an item carried on July 9 in the Times.

The Vancouver Sun and the Canadian Press, which carried the item on its wires, have since apologized to the directors of the company for the item, which gave rise to the inference that the directors used their position as such to benefit themselves, and had voted in respect of the option plan from which they personally would derive substantial benefits.

Since, in good faith, it had printed this information and attributed it to The Vancouver Sun, The Times also tenders an apology for any embarrassment it may have caused the following gentlemen: E. Ronald Crammond, George T. Cunningham, Sydney G. Dobson, S.

U.S. BREAD BOYCOTT SUGGESTED

VANCOUVER (CP)—A boycott of United States bread imported into Vancouver during the current bakery strike-lockout was urged by the Vancouver Labor Council at a meeting last night.

The council pledged support to the Bakery and Confectionery Workers' Union (TLC) in its dispute with seven Vancouver and Nanaimo bakeries, and asked that the imported bread be branded "unfair."

Mayor Fred Hume today will continue mediation talks with bakery and union officials. He met the disputing parties last night, but no statement was made after meeting.

Stole Wire to Pay Girl Friend's Fine

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Alpheo Francoeur, who recently served 26 months in the B.C. penitentiary, faces another prison term because he admitted stealing 3,000 feet of copper wire to pay his girl's traffic fine. He was remanded to July 27 for sentence by County Court Judge F. K. Grimmett who said, "You are going back to jail, but I don't know for how long."

'Drag Stores', 'Lahve and Mahney' Are Main Miss Universe Worries

BY H. D. QUIGG

NEW YORK (UP)—A man had breakfast with 11 of the most dumpy women in the world—leggy, lanky and loopy lovely beauties from Europe and South America going to the Miss Universe beauty contest in California—and when it was over he found he had completely forgotten to have breakfast.

It was because they talked so much. Honest.

Chatter, chatter, chatter in several languages. They wore (ugh) dresses instead of bathing-suits, so there was nothing to do but listen.

Each one of them said: "I cannot win. I am not beautiful."

How gracious can a woman get?

It was a press breakfast, and this reporter first encountered Miss Norway, blue-eyed, brown-haired, Mona Stormes, who speaks English like a magpie.

"Here," she said, placing hand on bust, "I am 93 centimetres. Here (waist) 57 or 58 centimetres, for before or after eating. And here (hips) same as here (bust again). I weigh 50 kilos. My boy friend is a speedway driver."

"I've been in New York three days. It's much bigger and more exciting than Norway. We ate at the automatic. Shopped in the drag stores."

What stores?

"Drag stores—where you get

Single Escaped Mental Patient Still at Large

LONGSTAFF, Ont. (CP)—Police narrowed their hunt to one man today as the fourth of five mental patients who broke out of the Ontario hospital here was picked up in a telephone booth.

Officers recaptured 20-year-old William Elsie early today as he loitered near a phone booth in mid-town Toronto, about 15 miles south of this community.

They said Elsie, considered harmless, was carrying a hunting knife in a sheath. He offered no resistance.

This left only one youth, Victor Roberts, 19, of Windsor, still eluding police since the five patients escaped from the hospital Monday night by smashing a guard over the head and stealing a truck. The other three were recaptured later. One of them was severely injured when the truck crashed into a ditch near Longstaff.

LANGLEY PRAIRIE (CP)—Allan Berryman, eight-year-old Port Kells boy, died in hospital here Tuesday of internal injuries suffered nine hours earlier when knocked from his bicycle by a car. Police said he was riding out of the driveway of his home when struck.

Senator Knowland's Threat

THE WHOLE PROBLEM OF THE Western world's relations with China has been confused by Senator Knowland's proposal to withdraw the United States from the United Nations if China is admitted. In the mind of the Senate Republican leader there is only one issue—should China be given any recognition by the free nations? Actually there are two issues and the attempt to combine them is making serious mischief.

Whether the actual Government of China should be given diplomatic recognition by the various Western states is a matter for their individual decision. Britain has recognized that Government because it controls China, without for a moment approving it. The United States has refused such recognition but has found, in recent weeks, that it must deal with the Chinese Government nevertheless through agencies like the Geneva conference.

The British policy is based on long-term calculation, on the assumption that if China is completely isolated from official contact with the Western world it will be driven still further into the communist world; and on the hope that some day a China treated reasonably by the West will detach itself from Russia. Meanwhile Britain is ready to join a defensive system aimed not at Chinese communism as such but only—Sir Winston Churchill said at Ottawa the other day—at aggression wherever it occurs in Asia.

To follow this policy of individual diplomatic recognition, however, is not necessarily to say that China should be admitted immediately to the United Nations. There are sound reasons against immediate admission, both of principle and practical politics.

China has violated the principles of the United Nations and has been declared an aggressor in Korea—a crime still not purged since China refuses to make a tolerable Korean peace. In practical politics an attempt by the other Allies to force China into the United Nations would alienate the United States when the Allies' unity is far more important than even the current affairs of Asia.

Britain expects the United States to accept its individual recognition of China. It and other friendly powers should understand the United States' objections to China in the United Nations.

This, like many other great issues, is essentially a question of timing. At some future date, if it renounces its policies of aggression, China certainly will be and should be admitted to the United Nations—under those conditions, the sooner the better. To force its admission before its peaceful intentions are known, and when admission would certainly outrage the United States, would be extremely dangerous to the Grand Alliance.

It will be noted, however, that Mr. Knowland has not been supported by the American Government in saying that the United States must leave the United Nations at the moment China enters it. Some of the most powerful figures in the Senate, Republican and Democrat, have attacked the Knowland ultimatum, though they agree that China has not yet earned the right to sit in the world forum.

The view of the Government that China should not be seated seems to have the support of all but a few Americans in both parties. The extreme view of Mr. Knowland appears to represent a minority.

As Mr. James Reston writes in The New York Times, Mr. Knowland's threat is a reflection of the silly season in Washington, is one of many threats lately heard there in the irritating summer heat. But none of these threats has been carried out.

It is impossible to believe that the United States will smash the United Nations if it cannot have its way against the majority of the members. The members, however, even those which decide to recognize China individually, should not risk grave damage to the United Nations and to the Grand Alliance by pressing their logic too far and too fast against American objection.

All their policies must be based on the clearest fact of our time—that without the United States' full support the West is indefensible. The United States would be indefensible in the long run.

Insult or Incompetence?

THE DIRECTORS OF THE Greater Victoria Arts Centre and the Victoria Symphony have shown, by their combined statement, how they feel about the treatment they have received from the city council.

Unless the position in which they were placed is the result of official civic incompetence and ineptitude—a possibility they suspect—the two organizations feel they have been treated in a shabby, frivolous and insulting way.

Perhaps the city council feels in no way obliged to extend courtesy to these petitioners. Perhaps good manners are no longer considered desirable in the transaction of Victoria's business. Even so, how can the council justify its invitation to the two organizations to submit briefs and then dismiss the whole case with the clear indication that it had been pre-judged?

On another point the citizens of Victoria should receive information.

All Quiet on the Western Front

WITH A RESTRAINT characteristic of municipal voting in that district, Oak Bay has approved new liquor outlets other than beer parlors. In this respect it has taken the same course as Saanich.

The result leaves Victoria the lone member of the Greater Victoria family which has voted in favor of pubs since the new liquor legislation was approved.

Esquimalt, to date, has shown no inclination to seek a vote of any type. For years it has been the public house annex of this community. During those years there have been occasional domestic expressions of resentment against this form of liquor outlet. The argument, other than that part of it based on temperance grounds, has usually been that beer parlors require more policing.

Whether the case is valid or not, the residents of Esquimalt have until August 4 to seek a plebiscite on that question. An expression of opinion may be gained either by a request from the municipal council or by petition from the required percentage of qualified voters.

The ultimate decision, of course, would be up to the voting residents of the district. If they, or a majority of them, object to beer parlors, this is their opportunity to rid themselves of that type of outlet.

If no vote is taken at all, the conclusion must be that Esquimalt is well satisfied with pubs, even if Oak Bay and Saanich don't want them.

Is This Severe Enough?

IN COLWOOD RCMP COURT THE other day the operator of a truck was fined $51 for overloading, both by weight and height, the vehicle he attempted to drive toward the city.

According to the evidence the weight was just short of double the legal limit and the logs projected into the air three feet above the maximum height allowed.

Testimony revealed that the driver had been caught when he found his progress blocked by a railway underpass and he was forced to back up the hill leading to it, thereby creating a snarl in traffic.

This is the type of case which appears in court periodically. In a number of instances the legal proceedings start after an accident has occurred—a foreseeable accident when trucks are grossly overloaded or when loads are carelessly fastened.

Following prosecutions, truckers apparently obey the law for a period. Then they begin to fudge until an exaggerated incident such as that reported most recently occurs.

Under the circumstances, and in view of the danger such loads create, is a $51 fine high enough to discourage overloading? And must action await accidents or occurrences in which a driver is stopped by the top of an underpass?

Political Phrases Illustrated

Chips

BY DAVID BROCK

THE other day in Miss Kilgallen's column, "The Voice of Broadway," Mr. Phil Silvers was very contemptuous about an unnamed drama critic who had said wit and humor in the New York theatre are feeble just now than they once were.

To prove the critic wrong, Mr. Silvers dug back through a few poor entertainments, extracted nine gags of a very routine sort, and managed to suggest that old jokes were always as bad as these gags, if not worse, while modern jokes are always better.

As Mr. Silvers should know, the real home of wit and humor is very seldom in that mechanical thing, the gag. We've had gags in the past, and they are still with us, and it would be idle to get too statistical about the damned things. You would end up with six of one and half-a-dozen of the other... six bad eggs as against half-a-dozen rotten ones... what's the odds? And not even natural eggs gone bad, either, but synthetic eggs. Smarmy stuff.

NEITHER the loud laughter nor the quiet smile of an audience is nourished by the gag. We've got better things than that. We are talking about wit and humor, not gags. How plainly do you have to talk to Mr. Silvers? No doubt he's looking for some hidden meaning.

One man's funny show is another man's pain in the neck, of course, and if I say Show X was not only funnier than Show Y in the 20's but is funnier than Show Z in the 50's, this sort of flat assertion proves nothing. But I could get quite a few people to agree with me in thinking that the material fed to the Marx Brothers got slowly but steadily worse between the late 20's and the mid 40's. Was this a symptom of anything? I don't know, except that it was not just a symptom of my getting older.

I FORGET who wrote "Caprice," which starred Alfred Lunt and Miss Fontaine along about 1928 and 1929. For quiet fun I am sure there has been nothing like it in the last 25 years. People who know tell me Beatrice Lillie, superb though she is, is not what she was... not because of loss of energy but mainly through lack of material. This does not prove the material isn't being written, but it does prove some body's taste has slipped up somewhere along the line between the writer and the footlights, inclusive. No, further than the footlights... let us say between the writer and the box office, inclusive.

Noel Coward is not anything like what he was. This wouldn't matter if there was somebody to replace him, but there isn't. I wonder if he could ever go back to writing revues, as he did in the 20's? That would be something indeed. Incidentally, I think the sophisticated type of revue song may be just as good as it ever was, when it is really first-rate... that is to say, it is always rare, but not much rarer now than it was.

I FEEL sorry for a generation that thinks Danny Kaye the best clown who ever lived. We should be grateful for Danny Kaye and we shouldn't be melancholy old stick-in-the-muds living in the past. Present mirth hath present laughter. But it is possible to think Dan Leno, whom most of us never saw, was probably a lot funnier. A good show at the Gaiety, before it died, was to me far funnier than anything Danny Kaye could do. I am straying from the original point a little... New York never had anything like the Gaiety. But if fun has gone out of London, why not out of New York?

The movies are very useful for one thing... revivals. They help to prove quite a few things. One of them is this: Show a modern kid a quite ordinary bit of Stan Laurel clowning, or a no-better-than-typical scene with Groucho and Harpo Marx, and the kid will go home marveling that we once had such fun, and had it quite often.

HE WILL still think Danny Kaye a god, but no longer a unique god. And he will think Bob Hope a bit of a ham, along with many another modern idol. Bob Hope is not Broadway. But the entertainment world has been One World for quite a long time now.

Has there been anything like Benchley lately? I think not. The public got to know him through his Hollywood shorts, but he was strictly Broadway stuff... if you want to quibble along those lines.

Oh, well, whatever our faults today, we have nothing on the stage at present which is as bad as "Abie's Irish Rose." And if it appeared today, I trust it would be a flop. We've grown up to that much. (Not that comedy depends entirely on growing up.) You remember Harpo Marx's six-word review of "Abie's Irish Rose"? He said quite simply: "No worse than a bad cold." Still, Mr. Silvers had better remember this was a joke of the 20's, too.

ANONYMITY

WHY did Mr. Silvers refuse to name the critic he was attacking? Because, one supposes, of the journalistic superstition that you are praising and helping a man by naming him at all, even when kicking him to death. Anybody who believes in that old fragment of taboo is obviously unacquainted with Chesterton's poem against F. E. Smith, later Lord Birkenhead: "Are they clinging to the crosses, F. E. Smith?" He uses the name Smith 13 times in four stanzas, and the effect is shattering.

TV—Instrument of Reporting

By ROSCOE DRUMMOND from Washington

THERE are some politicians who just naturally duck for cover whenever they begin to feel the hot rays of public criticism. They figure that if they can keep out of sight perhaps the voters won't think about them.

This is the attitude of some leading members of Congress on the subject of televising Congressional hearings. In the wake of the Army-McCarthy investigation, it is evident that they want less television, not more, and would be delighted if television would go away and not bother them—except for a prepared speech now and then.

The heart of the anti-television argument, though television's Congressional opponents will rarely admit it frankly, is that the public business shouldn't be too public. They argue that it all becomes frightfully undignified, even circus-like, before the cameras.

Vice-President Nixon advances this view in a foreword to "The Federal Bar Journal" which devotes its whole current issue to a study of Congressional hearings and deals at length with the television issue.

CIRCUS ATMOSPHERE

"Televising hearings," says the Vice-President, "tends to create a circus atmosphere which diverts not only the witnesses but even some committee members from the serious business at hand of getting the facts. Too often temptation is to play to the television audience rather than to concentrate on digging out the sometimes tedious, dry facts which are essential to the success of the investigation."

There is a strong and—I think, a stronger—case to be made on the other side.

The heart of the pro-television argument is that television reporting is an essential part of a free press and that wherever the newspaper reporter has established his right to be present at the public transaction of public business, the television reporter cannot be fairly barred.

I do not argue that all Congressional hearings should be public. I argue only that all public Congressional hearings should be equally open to all media of reporting so long as these media do not actually disturb the proceedings. Today the television camera can be as inconspicuous as the pencil.

Television reporting is an extension of the free press. I am inclined to think that Congress must learn to live with it even if Congress has to correct some of its own working habits. Television doesn't create a "circus atmosphere"; it only records a circus atmosphere when it has been created by others.

It would be well to look with suspicion upon those politicians who want to hide from the television camera except when they come carrying a prepared manuscript and a little make-up. They're not against television reporting—except when it might hurt them. Remember the Republican National Convention of 1952. Everybody was for open proceedings fully televised—except when some politicians wanted to handle the delegate disputes a little more privately.

Congress can't handle television as though it owned it. Television must either assert the rights of a free press or timidly abandon its claims to independence.

I doubt if the case for fuller television reporting of Congressional hearings can rest securely on arguments that it will help the hearings. Such arguments can be advanced and two radio-television lawyers advance several in "The Federal Bar Journal." They argue:

That wider publicity will help committees produce more facts.

That televised hearings make it nearly impossible to circulate misstatements without immediate correction.

That committee members should be held accountable for their conduct at hearings and that television helps the public to do so.

That televised hearings create a town-meeting sense of participation in government and that this is all to the good.

TV RESPONSIBILITY

Television reporting may or may not be as useful or as beneficent as some of its advocates claim. Its beneficence will largely depend on how well the public uses it and how responsibly television discharges its own public responsibility.

But television is an instrument of reporting which Congress cannot keep indefinitely at arm's length. It is here to stay and it has the right to report.

HURTING TIMBER INDUSTRY

The June 26, 1954, edition of your newspaper contained a picture of the all metal Victoria Machinery Depot with the caption, "This One Won't Burn." It is this type of misleading information which hurts the timber industry. Heavy timber (mill) construction has a better fire rating than has unprotected steel since steel under load will start to collapse at a little more than the ignition temperature of timber.

One of the most recent fire disasters was at the General Motors plant in Livonia. In this fire the steel building collapsed under its own weight. The wood block floor did not contribute to the fire which was maintained primarily by oil and tar.

UNITED IN PROTEST

Among many Victorians, it seems, the chief reaction to the opposition to the B.C.E.'s demand for increased bus fares and reduced service seems to be surprised that at last, after 57 years the cities and smaller municipalities realize they must unite to obtain transportation justice in their own streets.

The people apparently feel they at last are finding a leadership they deserved and ought to have had many years ago. Since I first observed affairs on this island it has been the custom to accept (and accept in whole) the demands the company made. Opposition for decades after decades was unthought of. It seems certain a change has come and the councils are no longer prepared to have increased levies put upon their people in the absence of a complete investigation into the books and methods of the big company which has a monopoly in their streets. Years hence it will be difficult for the then citizens to comprehend why the councils did not fight for their people long before they did.

After all, our elected councils owe their support first and last to the citizens who elected them to speak for them. They do not owe any support to the claims of this or any other company.

R. HELMSLEY.

HOUSEWIFE AND BREAD

The bakers' strike may prove a blessing in disguise. It may help to focus public opinion upon a growing despotism which is threatening to destroy our economy, increase inflation and produce mass unemployment with all its attendant evils and misery.

Despite the fact that the cost of living has remained stationary for nearly three years we have been confronted with annual demands for more pay for less work. One result has been that we are forcing ourselves out of every market in the world, and vast quantities of manufactured goods are coming to Canada from countries where men are still willing to work, and willing to earn the pay they get.

I have always felt that the "working men" are the backbone of every country but when they come under the leadership of highly paid agitators, they seem to lose their freedom, suffer great disadvantages, and in the end find themselves unemployed.

Some months ago in a public statement it was said that first class bread could be made for eight cents for a sixteen ounce loaf. Since that announcement wheat has fallen ten cents a bushel in price. Now can anyone explain why we are paying 15 cents for a fifteen ounce loaf—something more than twice what it should cost? How much longer can the public, who have no immediate interest in this class warfare, tolerate being exploited?

There are two things we can do and they ought to be done at once. Every hospital and every public institution should commence baking bread immediately—some have been doing this for long. It would cut down some expense and the patients would be the better for the change. The hospitals could sell bread, at a slight profit, to other institutions such as nursing homes and the like. Never again should the sick and the dependent be victims of such heartless selfishness.

Then again every able-bodied housewife should take a vow that she will not buy a loaf of bakers' bread till the price comes down to ten cents a loaf, or lower—there would still be a good profit at that price. Home-made bread is better, more wholesome and more nutritious. This is one matter which we housewives can settle. Let us do it. I have gotten in a supply of flour and am going into the baking business tomorrow.

"HOUSEWIFE."

DUPLESSIS FOR TORY THRONE

The reported move of various B.C. Conservatives to call for a new federal leader is interesting. Colonel Drew has been a two-time loser, so he should be retired—a good many agree with that. But why promote Mr. Diefenbaker? He may be able to pick up half a dozen seats in Ontario and the Prairies, but he would certainly lose as many seats in Eastern Canada. Mr. Diefenbaker's views seem to differ infinitesimally from the Liberals, and he has not any Conservative strength in Saskatchewan as a proof of organizational ability.

By all means let us have a national Conservative convention and a new leader. I would suggest the Hon. Maurice Duplessis, prime minister of Quebec, for the position. Mr. Duplessis has led very ably the Union Nationale, a right-wing coalition, and has been premier of Quebec for 15 years. Mr. Duplessis has the wide experience necessary, a very considerable backing in French Canada, and has proven himself a man of convinced principles and able leadership. With Mr. Duplessis as Conservative leader, a political alliance could be made with Social Credit, which would practically assure us of the defeat of the federal Liberal government. Had a Conservative-Social Credit alliance existed before the last general election we would now have an united opposition in Ottawa of 115 to 120 members—a very different situation from the present official opposition under the Toronto Club leadership.

Provincially, the B.C. Conservative Party is on the rocks, due to the malaise of an unfortunate coalition with Liberals and to poor leadership. Elections are not won by a "me too" program, or by candidates, however able some may be, in the field four weeks before the election date. Federally and provincially the candidates in the field 18 months to two years before an election have the advantage. People have a real chance to know them. I would suggest that the B.C. Conservative Party choose Premier Bennett as their leader and promote the Hon. Maurice Duplessis for federal leader, and that these suggestions be taken up by the constituency organizations.

ROLLING WITH THE PUNCH

I think I am speaking for most of my colleagues when I say that cartooning is one long nightmare from beginning to end, though I don't suppose I would ever choose to do anything else. My wife tells me that I sit at my drawing-board making a very horrid face while I try to think of something "funny."

—Bernard Hollowood, who writes and draws in the British humorous weekly, "Punch."

Gundy's Strange Status

THERE is a great deal of public curiosity abroad concerning the status in provincial affairs of Mr. Einar Gunderson. Twice rejected by the voters, the man they call "Gundy" continues to hover in the background as a sort of eminence grise. He holds down desk space in the buildings, is on the Toll Bridge authority and the PGE, and now appears as the Premier's personal trade envoy.

A few months ago Mr. Gunderson went to Japan with the Vancouver Board of Trade. The Premier has advised a press conference here that this mission was "very successful," but supplies no documentation and no tangible evidence. Press representatives who were along on the same trip say that Gundy proved a genial companion, enjoyed himself immensely, and in moments of expansive forgetfulness sometimes referred to himself as "B.C. finance minister." But there were no stories of contracts delivered or business obtained. Trade with Japan, of course, has occupied much of the attention of Victoria's Robert W. Mayhew and his commercial attaches in that country.

Now the Premier has announced that Mr. Gunderson will take off in August for Europe in an endeavor to "stimulate two-way trade with Britain, Scandinavian and European countries."

Taken at face value, this is a puzzling statement. A few weeks ago this newspaper, in its Weekend magazine section, told of the substantial network of embassies and trade missions which Canada already maintains in Britain and Europe. Will Mr. Gunderson operate independently of these channels? Or, working with them, does he propose to get business that they have not yet discovered?

Mr. Bennett has a minister of Trade and Industry, the Hon. Ralph Chetwynd. If this really is a "trade mission," why wasn't the Trade Minister sent? Is Mr. Chetwynd not considered capable enough to do the job for which he was elected?

Obviously there is more to it than this. The detached observer may be forgiven for assuming that Mr. Gunderson is prepared to accept the humiliation of "two defeats" (one by freshman politician George Gregory) in the hope that he can be restored in public confidence by these exotic excursions abroad, and come back later.

This, of course, does not jibe with Gunderson's campaign statements. At the time of the last by-election, you may recall, the Finance Minister proclaimed most vociferously that he did not need a job and was, in fact, offering himself at great personal sacrifice.

The public replied by giving him a release from this obligation and inviting him to return to private business. The reaction was curious, to say the least. Gundy, like the melody, lingered on—and in a highly influential position. There are department heads in the building today who complain that they can't get appropriations passed until they have "been cleared with Gundy."

In the light of these facts, the pragmatic viewer can arrive at only one conclusion: Mr. Gunderson most avidly desires public office.

In order to further this ambition, the Premier is apparently willing to spend public funds on extended junkets, with the transparent aim of building him up for a later campaign. Reporters who have tried to find out how much public money Gunderson is drawing, and the cost of these trips, have been rebuffed.

Let's understand the situation clearly. This newspaper is all in favor of two-way trade, and missions by authorized representatives. It is opposed to political patronage.

In the course of a week, lots of people try to sell us a bill of goods. We don't mind that so much. We just don't like them to think they're getting away with it.

YOUR HEALTH

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Pernicious Anemia

Dr. Alvarez is Emeritus Consultant in Medicine, Mayo Clinic and Emeritus Professor of Medicine, Mayo Foundation.

There are two main kinds of anemia. The very common one is the one due to the sudden or constant loss of much blood from some part of the body. This is called a secondary anemia. For instance, a woman's periods may bring so excessive a flow that she is into a new period before she has had time to make up the loss of blood she sustained in the previous one. Occasionally, one sees a person with hemorrhoids bleeding so severely that he or she becomes anemic. Or, one sees a man who has had a bleeding ulcer of his duodenum. His hemoglobin (red coloring matter of the blood) may go down to 50 per cent of normal. Among older persons the common cause of a severe secondary anemia is cancer, situated usually either in the upper part of the stomach or in the cecum (the largest part of the large bowel on the right).

Characteristic of a secondary anemia is a lowering of the titer of hemoglobin greater than a lowering in the number of the red blood cells. The reason for this is that it is easier for the body to build back red blood cells than it is to make hemoglobin. We physicians often forget these people do not need liver extract and vitamin B12 half as much as they need iron. They need iron in order to build the hemoglobin which consists partly of iron.

EXTRA IRON TAKEN
There are a lot of women in this world who tend to be somewhat anemic until they are 50, probably because they are too slow in building hemoglobin. As a result, often they have to take some extra iron.

Curiously, a high percentage of the people who, through the years, have come to me with a diagnosis of anemia didn't seem to have it. Certainly, they did not have it when their hemoglobin was measured with an accurate modern electronic instrument. Apparently, the laboratory girl who reported the anemia had used one of the ordinary cheap instrument designed for the measurement of the hemoglobin: one so poorly made that its readings are often 10 or 15 points off.

Often, also, persons are treated for anemia when they have a hemoglobin reading of, let us say, 85 per cent. Usually this is well within the limits of normal, and the person is not ill or in need of treatment. Most of my life I have had a hemoglobin reading of around 85 per cent, and yet I have always been unusually strong and active and well. I have never taken any medicine to raise my titer of hemoglobin.

It is possible that some persons have a tendency to anemia because they do not eat red meat or egg yolks, or greens, or liver. Some very sensitive persons have to depend on such foods for their iron because, when they take it in pill form, they get indigestion and diarrhea.

The other type of anemia, not due to any bleeding from any part of the body, is called a primary anemia. Years ago we used to call it pernicious anemia because in pre-liver-extract days it was an ultimately fatal disease. Today, fortunately, the patients are all being kept alive with liver extract, B12, and other substances. Pernicious anemia must be thought of whenever a person develops a definite anemia without any sign of blood-loss from any part of his body.

On looking at stained smears of the blood cells, a physician can usually tell in a moment that he is dealing with a primary anemia because each cell contains even more than the usual amount of hemoglobin. In this disease the body has most trouble making the red blood cells, and, as a result, they sometimes contain more hemoglobin than they need. In a secondary anemia the cells look thin and pale because they contain too little hemoglobin.

EARLY TREATMENT NEEDED
In cases of severe pernicious anemia in which the diagnosis is not quickly made, the patient is likely to begin to get feelings of numbness and weakness and tingling in his legs, and, after a time, he may even get some difficulty in walking. Fortunately, today, this process, which is due to injury to some nerve tracts in the spinal cord, can usually be stopped the day it appears. Unfortunately, if the patient does not go to a physician, or if then his disease is not quickly recognized, the damage may become so severe that it cannot be wiped out entirely by any amount of medicine.

Because this disease is inherited, some of the descendants of persons who have had it should always be on the watch for signs of it. If I had a parent or a grandparent or an uncle who had pernicious anemia I would go right now and get my stomach pumped out to see if I had any hydrochloric acid in my gastric juice. If I had plenty, I would be pretty sure that I would never get a severe form of pernicious anemia. But if I had no hydrochloric acid, then I would get my blood looked at every year. I would be particularly on the watch for anemia if I had become gray in my twenties or thirties.

Some of the persons with a family tendency to pernicious anemia get only the gray hair, or the sense of numbness or tingling in the legs or the loss of gastric juice without much if any anemia. They get only a part of the disease, but they should be treated for it because they are in some danger of getting more of it.

10 TO 20 YEARS IN BED SEEN FOR 23 FISHERMEN

TOKYO (Reuters)—Some of the 23 Japanese fishermen exposed to "death ash" after the Bikini hydrogen bomb explosion last March will probably be confined to their hospital beds for 10 to 20 years, Japanese medical authorities said in a press statement today.

Even after that they will still need medical care, the doctors said. Radio-activity damaged their bones, liver and kidneys. Their condition has been unchanged since June.

FPC DECISION APPEALED

Westcoast Petition To Be Filed Friday

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Federal Power Commission will be asked Friday to reconsider the decision by which it authorized Pacific Northwest Pipeline Corp. to deliver natural gas to Oregon and Washington.

Sources close to Westcoast Transmission Company, which also sought the right to serve the northwest market, said Westcoast's petition asking a rehearing would be filed on the final business day before the expiration of the 30-day period provided for such appeals.

Pacific and Westcoast, along with Trans-Northwest and Northwest Natural Gas Companies, fought for the northwest market for more than two years in the longest natural gas hearing ever held before a commission examiner.

The commission climaxed that hearing last month by approving the application of Pacific to serve the area with gas from the San Juan fields of New Mexico and Colorado.

APPLICATION REJECTED
It rejected the application of Westcoast because the company's Canadian source of supply, in northern Alberta and British Columbia, would be under Canadian jurisdiction.

Westcoast sources said purpose of delaying the filing of a petition for reconsideration was to determine that nothing had been overlooked. Should the commission deny the petition, the company would be limited in an appeal to the courts to the reasons set forth in its petition.

Social Legislation Seen Hindrance In Combatting Business Recession

By NORMAN M. MACLEOD

OTTAWA (BUP)—Social legislation enacted in the years of abnormal war and post-war prosperity has been developing some unsatisfactory features over the recent months of moderate recession, authorities here said today.

They said the chief problem is the economic rigidity resulting from the "floor" put under labor by the Unemployment Insurance and family allowance payments.

Unemployed workers are disinclined to move to areas where there are jobs, transfer into other more active fields of employment, or accept jobs at lower than their accustomed wages because they can just get by with unemployment insurance and family allowance payments.

RATES
Under the unemployment insurance setup an unemployed worker can draw a maximum of $24 per week. Family allowance payments may bring another $15 to $25 monthly to a family with three children.

Reports from industrial centres where unemployment is heaviest and most stubborn say that laid-off workers prefer to subsist on these payments until conditions improve to the point where they will be rehired, rather than move to other areas where jobs may be available.

Many also are unwilling to transfer their skills to industries in which they could be utilized, but in which they lack experience.

Economists here point out that this situation means that the worker becomes reluctant to co-operate in the adjustments which are necessary to cure a recession.

Mere waiting is unlikely to cure the situation, nor is any affected industry likely to be able to resume exactly at the point where it had to cut back.

That is what is causing authorities here to worry. They realize that the post-war sellers' market made it possible for industries of marginal efficiency to operate profitably, but that these conditions now are over and unlikely to return. That means many workers who are simply waiting to be rehired—textile workers, especially, but also including those in a variety of other industries—are unlikely ever to be called back.

SYNOPSIS—Extensive banks of low cloud lie along the outer coast this morning. This will move offshore during the day but reform in most sections tonight. Elsewhere skies remain clear and another warm day is in prospect. The storm centre in the vicinity of the weather ship remains a future threat. However, it will weaken in the next 48 hours and give only thin high cloudiness to coastal areas Thursday. Hence, as yet, no great change in the weather outlook is indicated.

Kikuyu Tribeswoman Gets Death Sentence

NAIROBI, Kenya (UP)—A

Kikuyu tribeswoman has been sentenced to death for active terrorism by a court in this British African colony. It was the first death sentence imposed on a native woman since the outbreak of anti-white Mau Mau terrorism more than a year ago.

Wanjui Johanna was sentenced to die for the murder of an elderly British school teacher last June 5.

TORONTO STOCKS MOVE AHEAD—All sections of the Toronto stock exchange moved ahead in the first six months of 1954. Industrials, up 30 points in the indices from year-end figures, were the biggest winners. Base metals climbed about 10 points, gold about eight and western oils made a fractional gain.

STOCK MARKET SUMMARIES

Toronto Drifts Amid Inactivity

TORONTO (CP)—The stock market maintained a slightly lower level in light trading today than it did yesterday.

Industrials had a few more losses than gains. Weakness in the group was due to a decline in the price of oil and a drop in the price of steel.

Base metals were lower with a 75-cent loss. Light gold trading left seniors steady, juniors weak. Uranium was off.

Western oils drifted off with most price changes small. Consolidated Smelters led.

Irregularity Rules Wall St.—NEW YORK (AP)—The stock market developed a lot of irregularity today with major divisions displaying a broad mixture of gains and losses.

Price changes usually were small but some made wide swings on the higher side.

Railroads were active and somewhat higher along with steel, motors, movie issues, textiles, utilities and radio-televisions.

Cement stocks and electrical equipments were lower most of the time.

Canadian stocks were lower. International Nickel dropped 1/2 and Canadian Pacific, Hiram Walker and Distillers Seagram each slipped 1/4.

Royalite Oil, Canadian issue on the American stock exchange, was up 1/2.

Montreal Weakens—MONTREAL—A weaker tone ruled Montreal stock exchange in moderately active trading today.

Carriers were mainly unchanged while miscellaneous industrials showed a mixed pattern. The remainder of the industrial market moved downward.

Mines slipped off with Sullivan down 15 cents. Western oils were quiet and featureless.

Closing Averages—Dow Jones closing stock averages: 30 Industrials 340.44, up 0.40; 20 rails 117.43, up 0.93; 15 utilities 59.61, up 0.39; 65 stocks 127.80, up 0.52; Shares 2,520,000.

Toronto closing averages: Industrials 348.18, off 0.15; Golds 73.91, off 0.01; Base Metals 146.77, off 0.66; Western Oils 86.01, off 0.64; Shares 1,701,000.

Montreal closing averages: Industrials 210.60, off 0.09; Utilities 108.70, off 0.02; Golds 59.49, off 0.08; Pulp, Papers 983.10, off 1.48; Shares 357,700.

Wheat Stocks Higher Though Shipments Up—Winnipeg (CP)—Canadian wheat supplies in transit and in store at North American positions for the week ended July 7 totaled 352,900,000 bushels, up 3,400,000 bushels from a week earlier.

The board of grain commissioners said today the increase was due to primary receipts of 9,400,000 bushels outweighing the domestic and export shipments of 6,000,000.

Coarse grain stocks, however, were lower than the previous week while flaxseed supplies remained unchanged.

Latest totals (with previous week in brackets) were: Oats 25,400,000 (26,000,000) bushels; rye 6,400,000 (7,300,000); and flaxseed 1,500,000 (1,500,000).

Improved overseas shipping was noted, with wheat totaling 4,100,000 bushels; oats 100,000; barley 700,000; rye 20,000; and flaxseed 37,103. A marked increase also was reported in the quantity of Canadian grain imported into the United States: Wheat 11,500 bushels; barley 1,145,071; and rye 1,100,972.

LOWER RECEIPTS—Lower wheat receipts of 3,100,000 bushels and higher outgoing traffic of 4,200,000 at forward positions caused a decline in seaboard wheat stocks, with 34,800,000 bushels for the week against 35,900,000 a week earlier.

Western farm grain deliveries to licensed elevators were 2,200,000 bushels less than the previous week, including wheat 940,000 (1,100,000); oats 1,900,000 (2,400,000); barley 300,000 (2,400,000); rye 300,000 (400,000); and flaxseed 53,000 (57,000). During the same period country elevators reported rail shipments of 13,300,000 bushels.

Car unloads at the Lakehead of 9,400,000 bushels were slightly less than the outward movement of grain from terminal storage—9,700,000 bushels. Stocks now stand at 54,200,000 bushels.

Welfare Funds Buying Drinks, Reeve Charges

Suggests Issuance of Special
Cheque Form for Charity Cases

SAANICHTON—Curb on alleged practice by some recipients of cashing public welfare cheques for the purchase of other than essential commodities was advocated at Tuesday night's meeting of Central Saanich council.

REEVE STANDS BY DECISION TO RETIRE

SAANICHTON — Reeve Sydney Pickles of Central Saanich last night reiterated his decision not to seek reelection as reeve next December, although many ratepayers had approached him to reconsider his decision.

"I fully appreciate the compliment contained in these proposals," said the reeve, "but my decision is final, and irrevocable."

"The reeve stated that he was quitting municipal politics mainly on account of health reasons."

The reeve has spent 12 years in public work, and was the key figure in creating the new municipality.

Cemetery Plan Draws Protest At Northfield

Residents Will Petition Council

NANAIMO — The cemetery site problem will continue to plague Nanaimo city council if Northfield residents' plan to petition against the Behan Park cemetery scheme gains weight.

At a meeting in Northfield Tuesday night, explosive protests were voiced against Nanaimo council's plan to set aside 20 acres of the Behan property as a cemetery.

Members of the disbanded ratepayers of Northfield reformed their front into a committee of trustees and organized circulation of a petition against the proposed cemetery.

Chairman Bertram Bell said: "Behan Park was purchased with money from the sale of Central Sports Ground in Nanaimo, and that money was supposed to be spent for recreational facilities, not a cemetery."

EXPLAIN BENEFITS

Mrs. Isabel Wilgress, once secretary of the ratepayers' association, suggested that "someone from the city council be asked to explain in detail what benefits if any, Northfield would derive from establishment of a cemetery at Northfield."

A member of the zoning appeal board, George Dodd, said first move on city's part would be to have Behan Park rezoned to "light industry" if a cemetery were to be permitted there.

Meanwhile, a petition is being circulated in Northfield district protesting the cemetery, and will be forwarded to health minister Eric Martin.

Dr. E. W. Best already approved the site for city council, saying that final approval would have to come from Victoria. Part of the dissatisfaction voiced by Northfield people was fact that they had not been consulted by Nanaimo council.

Of the 40 or so members present, one only thought Northfield would not suffer if Behan Park included a cemetery. The meeting adjourned after five members volunteered to circulate the petition in Northfield and Wellington districts.

"The city council will be hearing plenty more about this matter," said Mr. Bell.

'Omissions' Charged In A-G's Statement

DUNCAN—The attorney-general's statement to the press regarding the appointment of a police magistrate in North Cowichan municipality was notable for what it left out rather than what it contained, Reeve C. A. P.

Reeve Murison charged that the appointment of W. H. Bryant to the post was "political patronage." Attorney-General Robert W. Bonner discounted the charge, and said the appointment would not be changed.

Reeve Murison countered with the following written statement, claiming it was the "omissions" which constituted the council's grounds for complaint:

RECOMMENDATION

"The attorney-general is reported as saying: 'Magistrate Bryant was recommended by the North Cowichan District for appointment as their magistrate by letter to the then attorney-general, on Feb. 22, 1952.' This is incorrect. The recommendation in the letter reads: 'We should like to recommend that Mr. W. H. Bryant, the present magistrate of Ladysmith, be appointed to carry out the duties of police magistrate in the Chemainus area.'"

"Later the council wrote Attorney-General Bonner Oct. 22, 1952, asking that Mr. Bryant be appointed magistrate. This too was incorrect. The recommendation was: 'The reeve and members of the council feel that another magistrate or a deputy should be appointed to take care of the Chemainus area. They have recommended that Mr. W. H. Bryant be appointed for this district.'"

"Finally, no reference at all was made to the council's letter to the attorney-general on Sept. 15, 1953, following the resignation of the then magistrate on grounds of ill health. This letter, which is in fact the only one relevant to the present situation, since up to that time no vacancy existed and Mr. Bryant was simply helping out owing to the ill health of Mr. Tisdall, contains the following:

"The members of the council recommend that in view of the possible secession of our municipality, upon which the voters will decide at its December elections, that Mr. W. H. Bryant, our present deputy magistrate, be appointed acting magistrate for the whole municipality until the end of the year. At that time, the question of a permanent appointment will be brought up and certain recommendations made."

"It will be seen, therefore, that at no time, has the present council or any preceding council either suggested or recommended that Mr. Bryant be appointed permanently to the position of police magistrate for the whole municipality."

That Mr. Bryant was quite

Sears Officials Visit Nanaimo

NANAIMO—Vice-president of Sears Roebuck, C. A. T. Cashman, with a dozen company executives, arrived in the company DC3 aircraft at Cassidy Airport late Tuesday afternoon.

The plane brought the executives on a quick tour of Burnaby and Nanaimo stores from Los Angeles headquarters. The party was met at Cassidy by Nanaimo store manager Rex Covey, and left two hours later for Seattle after a business session and tour of the Nanaimo store.

OKANAGAN FRUIT NEWS

RASPBERRIES — Fresh, local raspberry crop looks very good this year. We have reached the peak of the crop now, and recommend preserving now.

CHERRIES — Cherries will be in only fair volume this year; 50% of normal supply. Peak of the crop expected about the end of the week.

APRICOTS — B.C. apricots are only about 60% of normal supply this year. They should reach the peak of season about the last week in July. Urge housewives to preserve early and not be disappointed.

Florence Chadwick doesn't pretend to be a baseball player, or is it lacrosse? But nevertheless the world-famous swimmer is ready for any eventuality that may occur when she gets together with the Tyees and the Shamrocks at Athletic Park Thursday night. The program, in aid of the British Empire Games fund, will take place prior to the WIL game between the Tyees and Wenatchee Chiefs. It will include a game that must defy description for the present between the Tyees and the Rocks and a personal appearance by Miss Chadwick. She will be interviewed by Fred Manning of Bapco Paint and Times' publisher. Stuart Keate on the aspects of her upcoming swim of the Strait of Juan de Fuca in August. (Times photo by Strickland.)

Famed Sports Columnist Grantland Rice Dies

IT'S MY VIEW

By BILL WALKER, Sports Editor

How not to make friends in western Canada, or who's to blame for the schmolze at the Canadian Empire Games rowing trials?

Coach Norm Edmonds of the JBAA Rowing Club is up in arms over the treatment accorded the local four-man crew in recent British Empire Games rowing trials at St. Catharines.

Matters were so serious that Edmonds has lodged an official complaint with the Canadian Rowing Association.

The usually soft-spoken Edmonds has called the treatment his crew received "the worst in 15 years of rowing."

In a letter to this department, Edmonds writes: "The equipment supplied to the JBAA club was an insult to sports-minded people. Our crew had to spend two days patching the leaks before the shell would even float, and the entirely out-of-date and overweight tub broke down during the race."

Regarding the relatively slow time turned in by the Victoria crew, Edmonds states:

"Our crew has never recently been anywhere near an eight-minute one mile and 550 yards. Our worst time for some while now has been 7.38 and we have done much, much lower."

Edmonds Angry—Reason Solid Enough

Edmonds continued: "We would never have taken on the expense of sending a crew across Canada if we were not capable of winning the race. We would like an investigation immediately and an opportunity to show what the boys are capable of doing."

And Edmonds, who is boiling, appears to have every right to his complaint.

For on the day of the race for a berth in the British Empire Games, the Bay crew broke a foot-rest going up to the start. They had that repaired, delaying the start of the race, then broke an oarlock in the No. 2 seat on the way down in their borrowed shell. They finished the race with three men rowing.

Crew Appreciates Local Assistance

Edmonds undoubtedly felt the situation keenly as the Bays had subscribed funds locally in order to attend the B.E.G. trials. And previous to their going east, the local crew had been under the standard time set for B.E.G. qualification.

In this regard, Edmonds and members of the crew wish to express their deep appreciation to those who made the trip possible.

He can't say the same for eastern hospitality, unfortunately.

Halberg Could Take It All, Says Landy of B.E.G. Mile

MONTREAL (BUP)—John Landy, the 22-year-old Australian who holds the record for the fastest mile run in history, said today his British Empire Games race in Vancouver against Britain's Roger Bannister August 7 would be his last big effort. "I'm not prepared to go on indefinitely chasing fast times," Landy told a sunrise breakfast news conference at the Montreal airport. "Besides, what could I prove by running a few seconds faster when there are numerous other milers today who have much more basic speed than I have."

Landy arrived here from London aboard a trans-Canada Air Lines super constellations accompanied by four other members of the Australian B.E.G. team. The five athletes boarded a TCA north star for the flight to Vancouver following the news conference.

The Melbourne agriculture student who set the world record mile of three minutes and 58 seconds June 21 at Turku, Finland, named Wes Santee of Kansas as the miler with the greatest potential today. He said that Bannister, whose 3:59.4 mark he bettered only 46 days after it was set, was "definitely capable of bettering his time," but he predicted a "disappointingly slow race" at Vancouver. "People are expecting too much," he said. "In a race like that one will be, both Bannister and I will be watching each other very closely and a third man will probably come along and win it. I wouldn't be a bit surprised if Murray-Halberg of New Zealand beats us both. He's capable of it."

Irish Up Lead; Host Tribe; Broncs End Tyee Win Streak

Irish Trim Pilseners; Home Tonight

Shamrocks 12, Pilseners 6

There's no place like home.

And Victoria Shamrocks, realizing this, will be at full strength and out to take advantage of home floor to boost their already commanding Intercity Lacrosse League lead tonight when they host PNE Indians at Memorial Arena.

Shamrocks upped their margin to 10 points over second-place Indians by posting their ninth straight win, a 12-6 victory Tuesday night over Vancouver Pilseners before 1,800 fans at Kerrisdale Arena.

Following tonight's game, Rocks see their next action against the youthful New Westminster Royals here Friday night.

JOHNSTON RETURNS

Colorful Geordy Johnston, who has been resting an injured leg, will be back in goal for the Shamrocks tonight and Norm Baker will be on a line with Jack Bionda and Jack Northup.

Baker was unable to make the trip to Vancouver on Tuesday. The first line of Whitey Severson, Larry Booth and Archie Browning will remain intact, while coach Red McMillan said today there may be a change in the third attacking unit.

Nip O'Hearn and Jack Thompson will form one defensive unit with Arnie Ferguson and Bob Monaghan teaming on the other. Shamrocks played a strong defensive game Tuesday night against Pilseners, allowing only 22 shots to reach goalie Jim Hetherington.

The game roughened up considerably at times due to lenient refereeing, but although tempers threatened to get out of hand several times, there were no serious flare-ups.

EARLY LEAD

Shamrocks led 3-2 at the end of the first quarter, upped the margin to 6-3 at half-time, scored two unanswered goals in the third half to take an 8-3 lead and then outscored Pils four goals to three in the final canto.

Bionda added to his league-leading individual scoring total with two goals and one assist, while Browning, Northup and Monaghan all sniped two goals. Whitey Severson had one goal and two assists.

Game time tonight is 8:30.

YOUNGSTERS AID SOLARIUM

Two Handfuls Of Pennies...

The Times-Anglers Solarium Derby will always be a success as long as there are kids like Helen, Sandra and Francis.

A heart warming story was written by these youngsters, whose insight to the needs of the Queen Alexandra Solarium far exceeds their years.

In Tuesday's edition of The Times, the sports page carried a picture and story on Wes Fulton, chairman of the annual derby that this year is seeking $8,000 to present to the Solarium.

Tuesday night, a small, timid knock came at the Fulton door. Wes answered the door and found three little neighborhood girls, Helen Simmons, Sandra Wilson and Francis Boughey.

One of the girls, speaking for the other two, said, "Mr. Fulton, we saw your picture in the paper tonight about collecting money for the children's hospital. We are going to help you."

With that, the little girl handed Fulton a double handful of pennies, nickles and dimes.

BACKYARD FAIR

The little girl explained that the three of them had held a fair in a backyard that day. They had run guessing games and sold soft drinks to other kids of the neighborhood.

Selling all their games and drinks for one cent each, the youngsters had reaped a profit of $1.64. Every cent of that $1.64 was in the handful of change they passed on to Fulton for the derby.

If three little girls can collect $1.64 for youngsters their own age, it seems that the older folks shouldn't have too much trouble fishing down for a buck to buy a Solarium ticket.

With a ticket, you get a crack at a treasure-house of prizes. Those youngsters didn't even ask for that when they handed over the profits of their fair.

Lewiston Takes WIL Slugfest; Salem to Get Joe Nicholas

Lewiston 13, Victoria 8

By BILL WALKER

The long-awaited has now departed and the expected has happened too.

Victoria Tyees no longer have rights to pitcher Joe Nicholas, while the club's three-game second-half win streak is also at an end.

Nicholas, who was such a long time coming here, and did so little when he did arrive, has been returned to Portland Beavers of the Coast League. He will be optioned to Salem.

But Nicholas wasn't the only pitcher treated with disdain Tuesday.

Six hurlers were used as the Lewiston Broncs up-ended the Tyees, 13-8, and at the same time snapped the unbeaten second-half mark of the locals.

Only Dean Kime, who came on to relieve Guy Fletcher for Lewiston, and Bill Bottler, last of a quartette of Tyee mounds-men, resembled their true ilk.

At that the Tyees got enough hits to win a couple of ball games. They cracked out 19 blows including home runs by Mel Stein, Dain Clay and Tommy Perez, and five doubles.

But they couldn't make the production pay off. Four double plays by the Broncs kept Fletcher and Kime out of trouble, with Fletcher in the deepest sort of dures throughout his time on the hill.

Hal Flinn started for the Tyees, but he couldn't get a man out and the five-run Lewiston first inning proved the final difference. Phil Page followed, and though his work was commendable, a three-run fourth inning by the Broncs was his downfall.

Bill Prior got tagged, and being a joust between the solidly, as the Broncs ham-

Shamrocks and the Tyees.

Club officials have also designated Friday night as "Ed Farey Night," the popular radio announcer of radio station CKDA, to be honored prior to his departure from the city.

Rosen Real Hero In All-Star Game

Cleveland Infielder Wanted Out

By JOE REICHLER
CLEVELAND (AP)—A slowly mending finger, a thing called pride and a big booming bat all played a prominent part in the American League's return to the winners' circle. The finger, pride and bat all belonged to one person... Al Rosen of the Cleveland Indians.

The box score of Tuesday's 11-9 American League all-star victory over the Nationals shows it was a bases-loaded single by Nellie Fox in the eighth inning—a real "bleeder"—that drove in the winning runs to end the war of 13 pitchers in Cleveland's Municipal Stadium.

But the 68,751 cash customers who came within approximately a thousand of setting a new all-star attendance record knew who was the real batting star for the Americans. They had cheered themselves hoarse in appreciation of their boy, the prematurely grey-haired Rosen, who, despite a painful and swollen index finger, crashed two home runs and drove in five runs to spearhead the annihilation of six of the National League's best pitchers.

HIDDEN DRAMA

Rosen's visible demonstration of power was far from the whole tale, however. The real story was a behind-the-scenes drama of which none of the fans, and few of the writers and players, had any inkling. It didn't come to light until later that Rosen had asked manager Casey Stengel to be taken out after the first inning because he felt he "might hurt the team."

"Pride got the better of me," said Rosen in an interview after the game. "Instead of begging off altogether, I suggested to Stengel that I give it one try... I told Casey I'd like to go to bat once and then tell him how I felt."

"Well, I struck out in the first inning and felt terrible. The finger hurt like the dickens... but I didn't say anything to Casey... I didn't want to bow out that way. The next time up I hit a home run. You can't imagine the feeling. And would you believe it, the finger didn't hurt... not much, anyway."

NOT THROUGH

Rosen was not through yet, finger and all. After Yogi Berra had singled in the last of the fifth, the 29-year-old converted first baseman walloped a second home run, even longer than the first. This 400-foot drive tied the score at 7-7. Rosen got his third hit in the sixth, a hot single off the third baseman's chest which didn't figure in the run the Americans made in that inning to go ahead 8-7.

Al's walk, however, played a major part in the eighth, when the Americans tallied three times to overcome a 9-8 deficit. The Nationals had taken a one-run lead when pinch-hitter Gus Bell of Cincinnati hammered a home run off Bob Keegan of Chicago, the sixth of seven pitchers used by Stengel.

PINCH HOMER

Trailing 9-8, the Americans tied the score on Larry Doby's pinch-hit homer off Gene Conley of Milwaukee. Singles by the Yankees' Mickey Mantle and Yogi Berra preceded the walk to Rosen. Carl Erskine of Brooklyn, sixth pitcher used by manager Walter Alston, replaced Conley and fanned Mickey Vernon for the second out, but Fox bloomed a Texas leaguer in back of second base, just out of the reach of shortstop Alvin Dark, to chase in the winning runs.

SEXES TO BATTLE FOR B.E.G. FUND

Victorians will be able to witness a "battle-of-the-sexes" softball game this Sunday.

An all-star team from the Senior A. Men's Softball League will meet a team from the Women's League at Central Park at 2:30 p.m. Sunday. The game is in aid of the British Empire Games fund.

Teams will switch batteries for the game, with men hurling and catching for the women's team, and members of the fair sex doing the chores for the men.

All proceeds from the game will go to the B.E.G.

TO MEET CHILE

Canada's Net Team Rated as Underdogs

MONTREAL (CP)—The man who helped choose Canada's Davis Cup team says Canada will be the underdog by a slight margin in the first round of the North American zone tie against Chile in Toronto Thursday.

Dr. Georges Leclerc, chairman of the Canadian Lawn Tennis Association's Davis Cup selection committee, said in an interview here Chile's three-man team is "slightly favored" in all events at Toronto Cricket Club except perhaps one singles match.

Luis Ayala is considered the best of the Chileans with Ricardo Balbiers second and Andres Hammersley third.

Dr. Leclerc said Canada's No. 1 player, 24-year-old Lorne Main of Toronto and Vancouver, has an edge over Balbiers and can give Ayala a good hard fight.

ABOUT EQUAL

Bob Bedard, 23, of Sherbrooke, Que., Canada's second-best singles prospect, is rated "about equal to Hammersley," while Paul Willey, 23, of Vancouver, and Toronto's Don Platt, 25, are "a little below any of the Chileans."

"Certainly Chile has a better team than Mexico and Cuba had last year," he said. "That doesn't apply to the Mexican team this year. I haven't seen it yet."

Canada last year edged out Cuba 3-2 in the first round and Mexico 3-2 in the second before losing out 5-0 to the United States.

Main, Bedard, Willey and Henri Rochon of Montreal represented Canada last year. Platt was picked to replace the veteran Rochon this year.

Stockers Run Tonight, Big Car Meet Saturday

Two auto racing meets are scheduled for Western Speedway this week.

Rain has forced cancellation of several recently-scheduled stock car nights at the track, and in an attempt to make up the missed nights the Vancouver Island Track Roadster Association is holding a meet to night.

The second program will be a strictly big race program Saturday night.

Tonight's meet will be run on a trial basis, and if it is successful there is a strong possibility that stockers will compete at Western on Wednesday.

Small Field Begins Play In Open

VANCOUVER (CP)—The 45th Canadian open golf championship was ushered in today and the old hatpin rigmarole of stabbing blindly at the entry list appeared as good as any in picking the winner.

The field of 126, give and take a couple of post entries or scratches, was small. But it still wasn't small enough to sort out the possibilities among the assembled talent.

Nearly one-third of the field was made up of west coast pros who seldom follow the big money trail but from whose ranks may emerge half a dozen or more golfers who can bust this tournament wide open.

One of the latest to come in for serious consideration is Bob Rosburg of San Francisco.

Plaudits for Rosburg come from none other than Rudy Horvath, the chunky Windsor, Ont., pro who caused some eyebrow lifting with his performance on the money circuit.

The only ex-Canadian Open champion in the tournament is Lawson Little, veteran from Pebble Beach, Calif.

Gerry Kesselring of Kitchener, Ont., and Toronto, another former Canadian amateur champion, fired birdie-birdie-eagle at the first three holes in his practice round for a 70 score.

Henry Martell of Edmonton, 1953 CPGA champion, and Bob Wylie of Calgary, who banged out a practice 68 Monday, each warmed up with 73 Tuesday.

Gordie Brydson, Toronto Mississauga pro who won the CPGA title in a deluge of rain at Point Grey in 1948, had a practice 72.

Thomson Joins Braves

MILWAUKEE (AP)—Bobby Thomson probably will swing a Milwaukee Braves' bat for the first time in a National League game during a series opening tonight against Brooklyn, the team he knocked out of the 1951 pennant with a playoff home run.

Individuals Whip Sidney

A string of errors by the opposition and some tight pitching by Ruth Oster gave Individuals a 17-2 victory over Sidney Merchants in the Senior Women's Softball League Tuesday night.

The game, played at Sidney, puts Individuals four-and-one half games ahead of Copley Bros. in the league race.

Marie Taylor, hurling for the losers, found her efforts could not offset the seven errors made by her teammates resulting in 11 runs for Individuals in the opening inning.

Big John Furmston of Arrow Furniture won his sixth game of the season Tuesday night at Central Park, and he was never better in setting down United Services 2-1 in a tight pitcher's battle with George Kinch.

Arrows are now back in a tie for first place in the Senior A Men's Softball League with Fletchers but have two games in hand over the Clothiers. As those two games are with Mayo Lumber, the league doormats, this puts Arrows in the driver's seat as the teams go down to the last two weeks of league play.

Furmston had to be good Tuesday to beat Kinch. He pitched near perfect ball until he lost his shutout in the last of the ninth.

Arrows scored first in the top of the second when George Brown hit a one out single, went to third on a follow-up single by Don Hendry and scored in Bob Embleton's infield out.

In the sixth, Furmston led off with a double, moved to third on an infield out, and scored what proved to be the winning run when third baseman Ken Pollock threw the ball into the dirt at first on Brown's roller for an error.

In the meantime United Services were getting nowhere with Furmston.

Canada's busy trucking industry has a lot of chores to do around the farm too! Out West, farmers depend on the fleets of carriers that haul the grain from the field to the elevators. And it takes other trucks to transport the grain from railhead to the miller, then to bakeries, to stores—and, finally, to carry the finished products to you.

The truck is the errand boy of industry, agriculture and commerce. Your errand boy, too, but with the efficiency and strength to do a man-sized job in our modern world.

Canada's rapid growth and expansion has made the trucking industry vital to the nation's economy. While we see more and more trucks on bigger and better highways we can be sure Canada is still growing—still going places!

Dancing 'Vets' Mustered For Margaret

BAD OYENHAUSEN, Germany (AP) — Britain's army today mustered ranks of young and handsome officer veterans—veterans of the ballroom—to dance with Princess Margaret at a lavish ball tonight.

The qualifications for the elite "Margaret" corps were few but rigid: youth, good looks and skill at the vivacious princess' favorite steps. Commanding officers checked to see the requirements were met.

"We don't want to surround her with the ugly old ones," said the British commander-in-chief, Sir Richard Gale.

Six hundred guests will dance until dawn in the Royal Air Force officers' mess at the health resort of Bad Elisen. The most brilliant social affair ever staged by the British forces in Germany, it will be the informal climax of Margaret's four-day visit to the British zone.

Lumberjack To Die for Que. Murder

PERCE, Que. (CP)—Fernand Clavet, 27-year-old lumberjack, Tuesday night was found guilty of the 1953 slaying of Jean-Paul Pelchat at Manche d'Epee, Que., and was sentenced to be hanged Oct. 29.

The all-French speaking jury deliberated less than 10 minutes before bringing in its verdict.

Pelchat's beaten body was found Oct. 4, 1953, in a ditch near Clavet's home on the St. Lawrence River south shore.

A statement attributed to Clavet was introduced at the seven-day trial, in which he admitted killing Pelchat during an argument over a maid who was caring for his children, while Mrs. Clavet was in hospital.

Chateau's Swank, Jail's Dank—Was It Worth It...?

OTTAWA (CP)—The capital's most swank hotel, the Chateau Laurier, is a nice place to stay. Even a spell in jail may not be too high a price to pay.

Cecil Francis Gardiner, 37, described as an unemployed lumber grader, stopped at the hotel, mecca for diplomats, politicians and distinguished visitors such as Sir Winston Churchill.

He ran up a tab of $92.75 and couldn't pay. In county court Tuesday he pleaded guilty to false pretences. The sentence: Three months in jail for seven days in the hotel.

Bennett Champ Clark, Ex-Senator Dies

GLOUCESTER, Mass. (AP)—U.S. circuit court judge Bennett Champ Clark, 64, former Democratic senator from Missouri, died Tuesday in hospital.

He was a U.S. senator from Missouri from 1933 to 1945 when he was appointed an associate justice of the U.S. court of appeals in the District of Columbia.

Canadian Economy Based on Metal Envisioned by Author LeBourdais

Canada may well become the first country in the world to build on economy on metal, noted author D. M. LeBourdais said in an interview here Tuesday.

Mr. LeBourdais became intrigued with this concept when researching the book "Sudbury Basin," which was published on the same day in 1953 as his well-known Canadian history, "Nation of the North."

A previous book, "Canada's Century," published in 1951, was widely acclaimed. The 67-year-old author is a brother of the late Louis M. LeBourdais, also a writer and popular MLA for the Cariboo.

"Sudbury is the first city to be built on the Canadian Shield, but there will be more," Mr. LeBourdais said here yesterday.

"All other great economies have been built on agriculture," the author pointed out. "However, we are just opening up our north country and its base will be metal. Towns like Yellowknife and Uranium City are just coming into their own. In Ungava we have a tremendous iron ore development and in the Gaspé, rich copper properties.

"Add to these oil and natural gas—which can be placed in the mineral category—and you have a metal economy."

"We have a thin strip of agricultural land but if we had nothing else it would break in two and we'd fall into the lap of Uncle Sam."

Mr. LeBourdais left Victoria today for the Grand Duke mine, north of Stewart, B.C. He is on a two-year tour preparatory to 1956 publication of a book on Canada's mining industry.

The coast-to-coast tour started in Victoria and will take the Cariboo-born author to every major mining development in the country.

Local Pokey Mob-Free On Famed Bastille Day

'Blackstock Hotel' Toured by Timesman
165 Years After Historic French Riot

By PETE LOUDON

One hundred and sixty-five years ago today the people of France rid themselves of the grim shadow of the infamous Bastille. Frenchmen still mark the event as the birthday of French national liberties, but the anniversary is not observed by French Canadians, they had been Canadians 29 years when the Bastille fell.

A similar mob action against the local pokey isn't to be expected. A Times inspection of the hoosegow here today revealed that although the lock-up wouldn't get an AAA three-star rating, the modern prisoner rests in comparatively comfortable storage.

The Bastille was an old castle-prison garrisoned by a handful of pensioners and an army of rats. Every crack in the wall oozed wet filth and nightcrawlers. Men and women grew old there awaiting trials that never were held, mostly because they had dared to criticize the government or any one of the high-living Louis (XIII, XIV, XV or XVI).

Class distinction was prevalent in the Bastille. If you were a rich nuisance you ate the best, had visitors, games and exercise. If you were a poor nuisance life was a horror, and death a welcome relief.

The local lock-up, though 40 years old, is still of sufficiently modern styling that every police force south of Duncan subscribes to its upkeep.

Labelled the "Blackstock Hotel" by regular inmates, in honor of Victoria police chief John Blackstock, it will accommodate 85 persons before the "No Vacancy" sign goes up. Normal registration is about 15 "guests."

A spur-of-the-moment tour with the chief revealed severely clean floors throughout. A dining and recreation area on the ground floor, fitted with benches and a long table is the daytime gathering place of the male inmates. Double-tiered bunks are in an adjoining room. There is one cell bare of anything but a toilet. This is reserved for revellers and is guaranteed to be fast-sobering. The inebriate graduates to a cot in the ground floor dormitory. Only serious offenders, or prisoners who must be kept separate because of tender years or possible collaboration before trial, are kept in solitary cells on the second floor.

An elevator connects the three-storied lock-up. Women prisoners are relegated to the upper story, where a matron is in charge. A well-behaved woman prisoner rates a mattress but men's bunks boast only two or three blankets on criss-crossed bands of steel.

RESTAURANT MEALS

No cooking is done in the building. Meals, for which the city pays an average of 35c, are brought in three times a day from a nearby cafe.

Other facilities include two padded cells which Chief Blackstock explains can "be opened from the inside by a special lever." Inquisitive reporters never fail to go in to look at the "lever." The chief slams the door and another police station initiation is underway.

In spite of these "attractions" prisoners do not stay long behind Victoria bars. Within 10 days of trial and conviction, RCMP officers take the offender from the city to Oakalla, B.C.; penitentiary; New-Haven or Essondale, as the court orders.

The transfer is most often made now by RCMP aircraft and is effected within an hour and a half.

In 20 years, only two jail breaks have been successful and then the escape was short-lived. Two men were caught after they let themselves down a blanket rope into the locked impounded car lot which adjoins the police station. Another pair were found hiding in a city high school.

The indignity of arrest, with the stripping from the prisoner of all his possessions (his belt and his shoe laces in some special instances) tends to make him critical of jail hospitality from the start. But desk sergeants who double as jailers

TO VISIT HERE—R. Douglas Stuart, United States ambassador to Canada and Mrs. Stuart will arrive in Victoria July 28 for a visit at Government House with Lieutenant-Governor and Mrs. Wallace. It will be the envoy's first official visit to western Canada.

GRANDPARENTS BOUGHT TICKET 'JUST FOR LUCK'

Parents of 2-Year-Old Fight Ruling That $140,000 'Sweep Prize Must Be Held

DUBLIN, Ireland (UP)—The parents and grandparents of two-year-old Susan Hanpl of New York City prepared today to argue in court that she was not entitled to the $140,000 she won on an Irish sweepstakes ticket.

Mr. and Mrs. Clement Marousek, the child's grandparents, bought the ticket when Susan was only seven months old and wrote her name on the counterfoil as owner of the ticket—just for luck.

The ticket drew Early Mist which galloped home the winner in the 1953 Grand National

Newspaperman Admits Writing Paper for Reds

MELBOURNE (Reuters)—A former press secretary to Australian Labor party leader Dr. Herbert Evatt made a turnabout today in his second appearance before an investigating commission on espionage.

Fergus O'Sullivan admitted that he was the author of "document H"—one of the papers taken from the Soviet embassy in Canberra by Vladimir Petrov, O'Sullivan, who refused to answer questions Tuesday concerning another document, was ordered to appear again today by Judge William F. Owen, chairman of the commission.

O'Sullivan's counsel, James Meagher, said he had advised his client to answer questions freely concerning "document H" because there is nothing criminal in it. O'Sullivan, who has worked in Ireland and London, said he recognized the document when it was presented to him by commission counsel J. Windover. He admitted writing it in 1951 when he was a parliamentary reporter in Canberra for the Sydney Morning Herald.

GAVE LIST TO MVD

He said he gave "document H," which is said to contain a list of Canberra journalists, their political leanings and social habits, to a former MVD agent and Tass correspondent named Pakhomov.

Then Vladimir Petrov, the man who set off the espionage enquiry, was questioned about the former press secretary. He said O'Sullivan had the code name "Zemlyak," meaning fellow-countryman. He explained the code-name was applied to Communists outside Russia.

A dramatic point in the testimony occurred today when Red Chiplin, an Australian journalist, shouted "you are a liar" when Petrov referred to him. Petrov said Pakhomov told him Chiplin had recommended O'Sullivan as favorable to Communism.

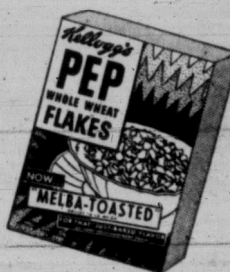

Chiplin was removed from the court room and Petrov then said he knew Chiplin as a Communist code-named by Moscow as "Charlie."

Circus Magic Enslaves Starry-Eyed Victoria Youngsters

Part of eager young crowd which turned out to help erect Clyde Beatty's Circus at Victoria West Park today is shown carrying tent pole with obvious enthusiasm. They each get free pass to "Big Top" for their toil. Circus is here for two days, with two shows daily at 2 p.m. and 8.

Swarmed like flies on rocks overlooking E & N rail yards opposite Victoria West Park, these young "sprouts"—and some older ones too—were on hand bright and early for arrival of circus train. As soon as it arrived the kids were tumbling off perches looking for jobs. (Times Photos by Strickland.)

BETWEEN TIMES

By MONTE ROBERTS

Mary Margaret McBride, the eminent advice dispenser, recently viewed with alarm the fact "you can be a dreadful bore and not know it."

To help you know whether or not you are a bore, she drew up a questionnaire.

If you score more than three "yesses," you are a crashing bore. Miss McBride points out, I'm willing to try—are you?

"Do you insist on talking about subjects that interest you, regardless of what other people think about them?" No, indeed. I just insist on talking, period.

"When another has the floor, do you leap to the limit the instant he stops for breath?" Yes, and serves him right for not practicing breath control.

"Do you invariably top the other fellow's story?" Seldom. But I'm always in there trying.

"Do you finish sentences for slow talkers?" I've never been lucky enough to MEET any slow-talkers.

"Do you over-use a pet expression, ad nauseum?" Never use that pet expression to any extent. But I'm inclined to say "Yes, dear," more frequently than most.

"Are you a stickler for detail in anecdote?" Never mind the details, I'll admit I've been in my anecdote for years.

"Do you, when someone politely asks, 'How are you,' launch into a monologue that really tells him?" Certainly not. But since you've asked, I've had a touch of rheumatism in my left knee and the sinus has been troubling me although I think it may improve if we ever get any really hot weather around here and the old sword cut I received fighting the Gurkhas in the Khyber Pass does give me a bit of trouble from time to time. However, I don't feel TOO badly except for...

"Would you rather talk about yourself than anything else?" You mean, there's something ELSE to talk about?

I have just added up my score, and find I am a charming, witty, and entertaining fellow.

It is only other people who answer the above questions the same way I did who are bores. But utterly!

Officers of HMCS Malahat, RCN reserve division here, hope to move to new quarters in the old customs' house, Wharf Street, in about three months. Plans for renovation of the interior have been drawn by architect Patrick Birley, and tenders are expected to be called late this month or early in August.

A group of 35 Eastern Ontario schoolboys, aged nine to 15, were guests of the Royal Canadian Navy here Monday afternoon and Tuesday morning. Commodore B. R. Spencer, superintendent of Dockyard, guided the boys on an extensive tour of HMC Dockyards, and a cruise through Esquimalt harbor to see Navy installations from the water.

The party, known as the "Discoverer's Tour" left Tuesday afternoon for Vancouver to complete their tour of Western Canada.

An unknown advertising writer in London, England, is in line for a present from George I. Warren, commissioner of the Victoria and Island publicity bureau.

The present—a thick book of facts about B.C.—to be presented smack-dab on the advertising writer's thick head.

Someone blundered in preparing a booklet advertising Trans-Canada Airlines overseas service.

In it, the unknown English writer referred to Vancouver as the, yes, the capital of B.C.

The two-ship Second Canadian Minesweeping Squadron, attached to the Pacific Command, RCN, will take part in New Westminster's Pageant of Progress celebrations, commencing Friday.

HMCS Comox and James Bay will be docked at the river port for the four-day event.

In August, a third 'sweeper will be added to the squadron. HMCS Fortune is nearing completion and will be delivered to the navy after builders' and acceptance trials.

Thousands of blooms of all varieties featured the annual Cordova Bay flower show held in St. David-by-the-Sea parish hall today. There were entries from all parts of South Vancouver Island. Scores of visitors from Seattle and Vancouver attended the show which was opened by Chas. S. W. Brock.

Societies To Press City For Money Aid

Victoria Symphony Society and Arts Centre of Greater Victoria intend to press City Council further in an effort to gain financial assistance from the city treasury this year.

J. F. K. English, president of the symphony society, said today the two organizations intend to apply for a by-law.

City solicitor Arthur Patton advised council last week that a by-law would be necessary to allocate funds to such groups as the symphony and arts centre.

Council declined to take any action in that direction but dispersed $17,015 to nine other groups by simple resolution. This leaves only $1,585 in the $25,000 fund council set up earlier in the year to take care of all grants "charitable and otherwise."

Mr. English, who complained Tuesday about the manner in which council had dealt with applications from cultural groups, said they were not giving up their case.

"If they insist they can't make a grant to us without a by-law, we will ask them to pass a by-law," Mr. English said.

He suggested the Musical Arts Society, which was treated in the same way as the symphony and arts centre, might wish to unite and make it a three-way appeal.

The Arts Centre has been seeking $8,765 from the city; the symphony, $2,867, and the Musical Arts Society, $500.

Chest to Study City's 8-in-1 Charity Plan

Ralph B. Matthews, president of Victoria's Community Chest, said today a meeting of chest directors will be called within a few days to consider City Council's proposal that the Chest administer an $8,000 grant which council has allocated for charitable purposes this year.

The Chest's attitude toward council's plan is uncertain since the city has asked that the money be distributed among eight agencies, five of which are in no way connected with the Chest.

The eight are: the YMCA, YWCA, and Boy Scouts (which are chest agencies) and the Red Cross, Salvation Army, Girl Guides, Sea Cadets and James Bay Community Association (which operate independently of the Chest).

Council stipulated that the money could be apportioned as the Chest saw fit but that so far as the three Chest agencies were concerned, any money they received from the grant was to be over and above what the Chest had already allotted.

The Chest itself applied for a grant in connection with its general fund-raising appeal, but was refused help from the city.

Tenders Called On RCN Dock Here

CIRCUS HERE AGAIN

Tigers Growl In Vic. West

Oh, calliope howl, and the tigers growl, while elephants flap with their ears. And the kids on the ground dash wildly around, greeting the circus with cheers.

Trundle beds were emptied early this morning as hundreds of Victoria tots sprang into action and dashed for the E & N yards to await the arrival of the Clyde Beatty Circus train.

Long before it pulled into the station, boys and girls were flexing their young muscles, boasting about how they were going to help put up the "Big Top" and earn passes to the show.

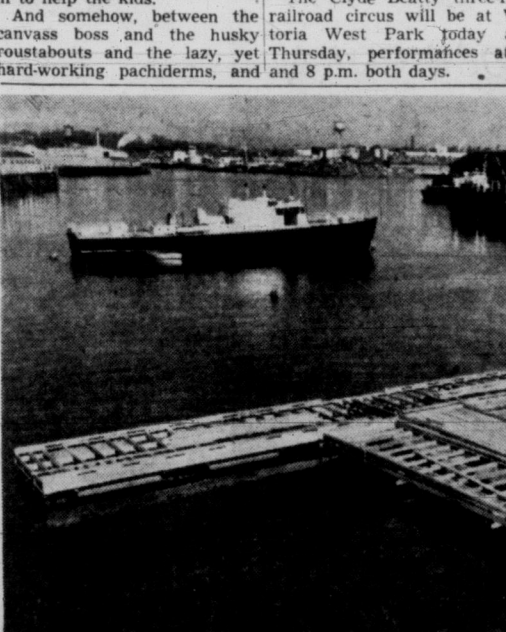

This, of course, was the cook tent—traditionally the first to go up and the last to come down.

The Clyde Beatty three-ring circus is one of the last two "railroad" circuses in North America. Including the big top, there are 22 tents with the traditional sideshows, midway attractions, peanuts, floss candy and pink lemonade.

But the big attraction is the great man himself—veteran wild animal trainer Clyde Beatty, first to exhibit an act with the age-old enemies, lions and tigers, in the same ring.

Clyde has admitted each time he enters the ring, the end of the act is in doubt.

The Clyde Beatty three-ring railroad circus will be at Victoria West Park today and Thursday, performances at 2 and 8 p.m. both days.

Weather Seen Cause As Polio Threat Retreats

Number of Cases Declines Sharply

B.C. health department officials reported today the province has every possibility of escaping a serious polio epidemic this year.

"It is a little early to say for certain," said an official, "but figures we have to date certainly appear to set a trend."

With every facility geared for an epidemic of last year's proportions, the health department reported the following totals for recent weeks. First figures are for 1953, and the bracketed figures are for the corresponding week this year:

Week ending June 6, 7 cases (5 cases); June 13, 13 cases (1 case); June 20, 11 cases (2 cases); June 27, 4 cases (5 cases); July 3, 15 cases (2 cases).

With one exception, last year's figures are greatly higher than those for this year.

"The weather could have some effect on the incidence of polio," said the official, "but so far we are in very good shape, and have our fingers crossed."

Lesage-Bennett Talks Under Way Here Today

Self-Dumping Barges Replace Log Booms

$500,000 Conversion Job for B.C. Yards Part of Island Tug's Unique Expansion

By MONTE ROBERTS, Times Marine Reporter. Self-dumping log barges will be introduced to the B.C. coast this year by Island Tug & Barge Ltd.

It will be the first time this type of log transport will have been used in Canadian waters.

Island Tug will operate four of the self-dumping barges, each capable of carrying up to 1,250,000 feet of logs—the equivalent of four eight-section standard flat booms.

The barges will be converted from four British-built coast-wise tankers, purchased by Island Tug in the Caribbean area. The firm's two sea-going tow-boats, Sudbury and Island Sovereign, will tow the tankers back here for conversion in B.C. shipyards, at an estimated total cost of at least $500,000.

H. B. Elworthy, president of the towing company, released details for the first time today, as negotiations for purchase of the ships, all registered in London, England, were completed.

FASTER, CHEAPER

He listed several advantages for the self-dumping barges over the traditional boom-towing method:

The barges will tow at from seven to eight knots, much faster than booms.

They will not be nearly as dependent on tide and weather as booms.

The self-dumping feature gives them a fast turn-around at the mill.

They can be loaded from wharf or water with any standard loading device.

Logs will be fully dry, protected from toro damage in transit.

Tenders will be called from B.C. shipyards for the work, which includes removal of the machinery.

The barges will be capable of carrying any type of dry bulk cargo, as they will be completely dry below decks.

They will be named: Island Fir, Island Spruce, Island Cedar, and Island Hemlock.

"I believe this method of log transport will open up West Coast logging as it has never been opened up before," Mr. Elworthy said. "We believe they will be of great benefit to B.C."

The barges likely will be in operation late this year.

Jail Escapee Dawley Arrested in Montreal

RCMP to Bring 'Dangerous' Criminal Back to Island

RCMP here verified today a report that Clifford Dawley, 44, son of a former Esquimalt police chief and notorious "bad man" of this area in the early '30s, has been arrested in Montreal.

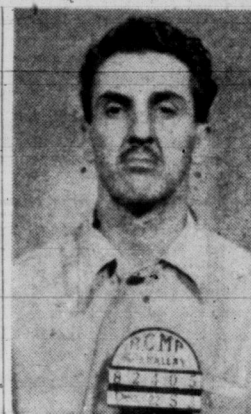

Dawley made a daring escape from prison when he leaped through a window of Vancouver General Hospital March 7 while being examined for a simulated back injury. Police said he diverted a guard momentarily, then made the leap clad only in a night shirt. It was hinted he had outside help.

Dawley was serving a six-month sentence for assaulting a police officer and was slated to appear at Nanaimo assize court to face two other charges, one of which was breaking and entering.

A Vancouver RCMP corporal is at present proceeding to Montreal to return him for trial.

Described as dangerous, city police recall Dawley as a local offender as far back as 1932 when he was involved in gun battles with police in downtown Victoria. He was wounded here and later was shot in the arm in a battle with San Francisco police.

It is reported that Dawley will face a habitual criminal charge when he returns. If convicted he will face an indefinite prison sentence. The charge is only laid when a convict has been three times convicted for indictable offenses which carry five year sentences.

ASK THE TIMES

Q.—Where can I get correct instructions for preparing a piece of ground on which to play croquet, indicating the size needed, kind of surface, grass or bare ground, if necessary to be exactly level, etc.?

—Miss I.M.M.

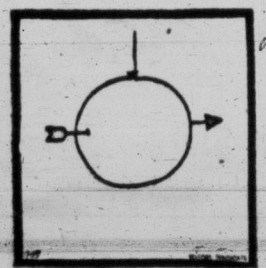

A.—It is suggested you write to the Vancouver Island Regional Library, Nanaimo, B.C. That library serves the Port Alberni district. Its services are of great benefit to residents of the island. It operates, under the Public Library Commission, whose services are appreciated in areas throughout the province.

Q.—Will you please tell me the name of the largest island in the world and its size in comparison with our own Vancouver Island?—D.T.D.

A.—Greenland is the world's largest island. Its area is about 840,000 square miles, more than 700,000 of which are ice-covered. The accepted computation of the area of Vancouver Island is 12,408 square miles. This figure appears in the British Columbia volume of the Gazetteer of Canada, issued by the Geographic Board of Canada as recently as 1953.

Buy a Beachcomber Lamp For Your Summer House

By PENNY SAVER

If I were furnishing a summer house, the first thing I'd buy for it would be a beachcomber lamp! Aim for atmosphere, I always say, and a beachcomber lamp is a dandy starter.

Even if your summer house has electricity, a beachcomber lamp adds something to a rustic fireplace. Base of the lamp is a round piece of cork. A stiff piece of rope, dyed a bright green, is knotted through the cork on one side and serves as a handle.

A glass chimney, the sort seen on gas lamps, is encircled at the bottom half with a scrap of bright green fish net, and shields a candle. Price of one of these lamps is $3.45.

Here's something new: Totem Pole candles. We've seen practically everything else in candle form, so it's really not so surprising. These candles are proving very popular indeed, especially with tourists.

They are good-size, tall candles of black wax, having faces and designs painted upon them in bright yellows, reds, blues, and greens.

Made in Vancouver, they cost $1.95.

For only a dollar you can buy one of the prettiest lavender hats! Buy them made of satin or taffeta in pretty, feminine colors, and trimmed with bits of lace, ribbon and flowers. The crown holds the lavender.

A little girl doesn't mind wearing a bathing cap when the cap is decorated with fascinating teddy bears, rabbits, doggies, lambs and kangaroos. The animals are in bright colors on a white background, and the cap sells for $1.39.

College Boy Shies Away From True Love

By ELIZABETH B. HURLOCK, Ph.D.

One of the common failings of adolescents is to take things too seriously. This is one cause of the many heartbreaks which adolescents experience. One girl writes:

Hurlock

(Q)—"I am 17 years old and will be a senior in high school next year. In December of 1953, I met a very nice guy. He is 19 years old and a sophomore in college. He is also in the Naval ROTC, which pays his way to college. For three years, during the summer months, he is supposed to serve with them. We see each other every time we can—between college terms. I have fallen very much in love with him—but here is my problem: He doesn't want me to love him—why, I don't know. I thought it would be best to quit seeing him and try to forget him. My family thinks differently. They say he does like me, and that thinking we cannot go steady because it would be hard for both of us to be faithful. What is your advice?"

(A)—My advice is to calm down. Don't get so worked up emotionally over this romance that will make yourself unhappy and do something you may seriously regret in the months or years to come.

You like this boy, and he obviously likes you. Otherwise, he would not spend his free time with you when he is at home. But you have known him only a very short time, and have been able to see him only during the college vacations.

That is not long enough to start going steady with him, or to think seriously about the future—he has two—to perhaps three—years of college training ahead of him. In addition, he has a serious obligation to serve his country, in return for the education he is receiving.

He is therefore in no position to consider marriage. He wants you to have the good times a high-school senior should have. Have dates with other boys and go to the school parties. Then, when he has finished his education, he will be in a position to think seriously about the future—he has two—or perhaps—but don't insist that it be any more than a friendship, until he is ready to change it into courtship.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Have Teen-Agers? Now Is Time to Stick By Them

As a parent, you will be lucky if your house is the one at which the teen-age gang hangs out—although it may cost you time and money.

Having been a mother of two teen-agers myself, and having received thousands of letters from teen-agers each year for the past 18 years, today I would like to send along a few suggestions to mothers of teen-agers.

1. Stay close to them, not just physically but as friends. This may seem difficult at times because the teen-ager who is worth his or her salt, who is normal, will strain at the leash of parental guidance, will long to be grownup and make his or her own decisions.

Don't let this "throw" you any more often than possible. Do not indulge in such thoughts as "They do not love me." "They are completely inconsiderate." "All my attempt to teach them manners and civilized conduct and a sense of responsibility has been useless."

SWEATER NECK TO FORM HOOD

NEW YORK (AP)—The "swan neck" sweater, with an outside turtle neck which pulls up over the head to form a hood, is Claire McCardell's contribution to the fall fad line-up.

This casual designer long has anticipated the "slouchy look" so important in the fall collections, and has been training her models to slouch for years. This time she underscores the sweater dress, which is simply an elongated tube sweater, worn with or without a narrow belt.

Your investment in their future happiness and success will pay out. Now is the time when the parent must be an emotionally mature adult. If you believe in the good material of your children and in their intrinsic fine values, which I am sure you do, stick by them with love and understanding even when they want you least. They need you now most when they least realize it.

Be available to them at any time when they need you. I think that for a few years, your teen-agers should be No. 1 on your agenda. For several years with both our son and our daughter I used to respond to dinner invitations with "We would love to come but we do not know just now what our son's or our daughter's plans are for the week-end." I do not know whether my friends thought me quixotic, but anyway, they seemed to understand or at least they seemed to forgive me.

WELCOME GUESTS

2. Make the friends of your teen-ager feel welcome in your home. You are lucky if your house is the one at which the gang hangs out. This will cost some money and time but it will be fun for you and much safer for your teen-ager. Try to add some home equipment which will provide entertainment for the young people—games of all sorts and keep the cookie jar filled.

3. Try to encourage an interest in sports or in some other sport in your child. This takes care of many problems during teen-age in a constructive way.

4. Try to imbue them with respect for good health and teach them good health and hygiene habits.

5. Overcome any physical defect such as skin trouble or buck teeth or overweight. Teen-agers are extremely sensitive to such things. Neglect here may damage the personality for years or forever.

6. Have fun with them. You will not have them with you much longer.

St. Luke's Fete

Plans are being made for St. Luke's annual garden party to again be held at "Strangewood," the Gordon Head home of Mrs. S. McMullen, on Saturday, July 31. There will be children's exhibition dancing by members of Miss Florence Clough's Dancing Academy, a conjuror for the children and games of skill for all. The following are in charge of stalls: Mrs. J. H. Brook, books; Mrs. F. W. Midgley, white elephant; Mrs. E. Bissen, home cooking; Mrs. H. E. Lukey, baby wear; Mrs. G. Buckland, men's stall; Mrs. W. B. Cornaby, aprons; the rector, antiques; Mrs. O. R. Blandy, needlework; George Muttibury, fruit and flowers; Mrs. F. M. Jupp, tea; Mrs. Hudson Jones, parcel checking.

Presented to Queen Mother As Exchange Year Is Ended

LONDON (CP)—Fifty-five Canadian teachers greeted the Queen Mother Monday on the lawns of Lambeth Palace, London headquarters of the Archbishop of Canterbury.

The Canadians—48 women and seven men—were among 102 Commonwealth and United States exchange teachers at the reception. All were winding up a year's teaching in Britain.

Two Canadians were singled out for special honors. Alice Polischuk, a grade three public school teacher from West Vancouver, B.C., presented the Queen Mother with a bouquet of pink roses. The Queen Mother wore a pale blue and white chiffon dress and white hat. Miss Polischuk was in a pearl straw hat and two-piece champagne-tinted dress.

After the teachers filed past the Queen Mother, to curtsy, bow and shake hands, Dorothy Wilnot, Malvern Collegiate teacher of Toronto, joined five other Commonwealth teachers to have tea with the royal guest in a canvas pavilion.

Among the guests were Mr. and Mrs. R. P. Steeves of Vancouver. Mr. Steeves, principal of General Gordon public school, is holidaying in Britain.

Iran Assignment Given To Clever City Nurse

Miss Wilson was born in Alberta but claims British Columbia as her home. She is a graduate of Victoria High School and the Royal Jubilee Hospital and took post-graduate work at Children's Memorial Hospital in Montreal.

By ELIZABETH FORBES

On Thursday Miss Roxie Wilson starts a journey that will take her more than half way around the world.

It's an exciting experience to contemplate but with Miss Wilson it is not all "for fun." She is going to Teheran in Iran under orders from the World Health Organization, to set up a pediatrics training course for native women who have been trained as nurses in their own country.

It is not the first time this intrepid young woman has struck off for far-away places. Only a little over a year ago she was in Ceylon where she did a two-year stint with W.H.O. in much the same capacity as the Iran assignment.

She returned to Victoria from Ceylon and for the past year has been supervisor of nurseries on the maternity floor at Royal Jubilee Hospital.

What prompts her to take these assignments in lands beyond the horizon?—A love of travel, of course, but over and above that a deep and sincere wish to help the children of the world.

"I love children," she says, "and anything I can do to help them get a good start in life I will do."

The Teheran assignment is a completely new project.

Miss Wilson has no idea how many native nurses will attend the course nor how well they will be trained. All she does know is that there are two white nurses already out there, one from Germany and the other from Canada... "but I have been unable to find out what part of Canada." These two nurses have nearly completed a two-year stint in Iran and Miss Wilson is not sure whether they will continue to work out there.

Teachers Married in Cumberland

A lovely summer wedding was solemnized in Cumberland United Church recently when Catherine Watson Mann and Stanley James Heal exchanged promises and rings before Rev. P. Connal.

The bride, a teacher at Cumberland, is the only daughter of Mrs. Alice Mann and the late Alexander Mann. The groom, a teacher at Courtenay, is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. S. Heal, Victoria.

Jack Auchterlonie, cousin of the bride, gave her in marriage. She wore a full length wedding gown of white double nylon net with applied lace over taffeta. The halter-style bodice was topped with a dainty jacket and she had a seed pearl coronet to hold her chapel veil of misty, net illusion. Red roses and stephanotis formed her bouquet.

Maid of honor was Miss Kathleen Hoffheinz, Union Bay, who wore a ballerina length gown of orchid net with matching headpiece.

Bridesmaids, Miss Roberta Aitken and Miss Dayle Heal, sister of the groom, wore green and yellow net over taffeta, respectively. Flower girl, Miss Roberta Cossar, wore yellow taffeta. All had matching headpieces.

The groom's brother, Gerry Heal, was best man and ushers were Ken McKay and George Cochrane. All three wore pale blue blazers, cream trousers and red ties.

Soloist was Jack Tweedhope, who sang "Because." Organist was C. Parnam.

Team Forms Honor Guard

The Eagles' Ladies' Drill Team of which the bride and her matron of honor are members formed an honor guard for Mr. and Mrs. David Wilfred Kelly as they left the chapel at HMCS Naden, following their recent wedding. The double-ring ceremony which united Eleanor Fraser Ofsie, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. F. Spencer, with the son of Mr. and Mrs. A. Kelly, Roland, Man., was performed by Padre G. Soutar.

The bride, given in marriage by her brother, James Spencer, wore a gown of white nylon organza patterned with roses and styled with Queen Anne collar. She had blue accessories and carried a cascade bouquet of stephanotis and red rosebuds.

As the bride's only attendant, Mrs. Tom Kirk, wore a gown of blue lace over pink taffeta and carried a bouquet of pink roses and carnations.

Lawrence Wade was best man and Bill Buchan and Ken Fisher were ushers.

Toast to the bride was proposed by L. Como at a reception in the Boilermakers' Hall. The bride's mother welcomed guests, wearing a navy dress with pink accessories. The couple spent a honeymoon in Vancouver, the bride traveling in a two-piece beige linen suit with blue accessories. Mr. and Mrs. Kelly have returned and are now living at 3106 Washington Avenue.

Social meeting, Princess Patricia Lodge No. 238, Daughters of St. George, Friday at 7.30 p.m.

If your face is round, shape your brows so that they arch slightly, coming down rather sharply at the sides. And keep them fairly thick.

Ceremony was followed by a reception at the Masonic Hall, where mothers of the couple received guests. Mrs. Mann chose a blue silk dress with lace bodice and corsage of white and pink carnations and Mrs. Heal wore a dusky pink taffeta sheath dress with white carnations, en corsage.

Garden Party For Boys' Band

The Mothers' Club of Victoria Boys' Band is holding a garden party on Saturday, starting at 2 p.m., at the home of Mr. and Mrs. A. Daykin, 929 Nicholson Street, in Esquimalt. There will be home cooking, novelty and garden stalls, and the band will play. A silver collection will be taken to assist with work of the band.

LOVE HER, DRAMATIZE HER THIS DESIGNER'S CREED

NEW YORK (AP)—The successful designer must be a vicarious lover, dramatizing the best points of a woman, and thus calling them to the attention of a man.

This is the credo of Oleg Cassini, whose fall collection was previewed Monday by some 150 fashion editors representing newspapers at home and abroad. Introducing the "elastic silhouette," a device by which elastic is inserted at the midriff of a dress to give a "wallpaper" fit, the tall, suave Cassini remarked:

"The basic woman shape is always the same and I don't believe in tampering with it by bizarre exaggerations. It is possible, however, to accent the best lines of any woman's figure and conceal the faulty ones, by skilful drapery of fabric.

For Summer Enjoyment—a Lime Pie

From Florida, Sue and Paul Patterson give us two unusual recipes using fresh limes. Florida produces half a million boxes of limes every year—seedless shiny green blessings for summertime enjoyment.

HEAVENLY LIME PIE

Twelve lady fingers, 1 envelope unflavored gelatin, 1 cup sugar, divided, 5 eggs, separated, ½ cup water, ½ cup lime juice, 1 teaspoon grated lime rind.

For lady finger pie shell, split lady fingers. Cut ½ inch off end of lady fingers; stand, cut side down, around edge of 9-inch pie plate.

Put remaining whole lady fingers and pieces evenly in bottom of pie plate. Mix together gelatin and ½ cup of the sugar in top of double boiler. Beat egg yolks slightly; stir in water and lime juice. Add to gelatin mixture.

Place over boiling water and cook, stirring constantly, until gelatin is dissolved and mixture is slightly thickened. Add lime rind. Chill until mixture is slightly thicker than the consistency of unbeaten egg white. Beat egg whites until stiff, but not dry.

Gradually add remaining ½ cup sugar and beat until very stiff. Fold egg yolk mixture into egg whites. Carefully pile into prepared shell. (Mixture should be thick enough to hold its shape.) Chill until firm. If desired, garnish with whipped cream. Yield: one 9-inch pie.

LAMB KEBABS IN LIME MARINADE

Two pounds boned lamb shoulder, ½ cup salad oil, ¼ cup Florida lime juice, 1 teaspoon dry mustard, ¼ teaspoon thyme, 1 bay leaf, ¼ teaspoon basil, ¼ teaspoon rosemary, ½ teaspoon salt, ¼ teaspoon pepper, 1 medium onion, chopped, 2 medium onions, sliced, 1 green pepper, sliced, 1 4-ounce can mushrooms, drained.

Heavenly lime pie, a hot-weather blessing.

Have lamb shoulder cut in 1½-inch cubes. Blend salad oil, lime juice, seasonings and chopped onion in bowl. Add lamb cubes; let stand 5 hours, or overnight. Drain. Cut onions in ¼-inch slices and green pepper in ¼-inch rings. Alternate cubes of lamb on skewers with onion slices, mushrooms and pepper rings. Preheat broiler 10 minutes; place kebabs on rack 3 inches from heat, broil about 20 minutes, turning once. Yield: 6 servings.

HOUSEHOLD HINTS

When bureau drawers stick, try rubbing the sides with sandpaper or steel wool. Rubbing with the edge of a cake of soap should help to create a better sliding surface.

Your nylon mesh shoes can be refreshed by wiping them off with a cloth dampen ed with soap and water. By inserting shoe trees before you start, you'll find that your shoes, when dry, have retained their original shape.

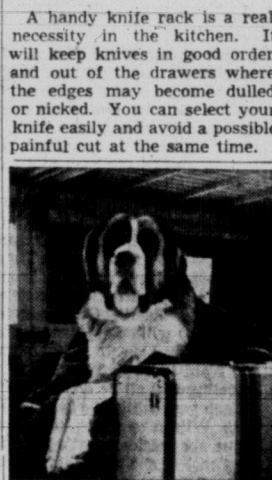

A blackboard eraser can do more than eliminate chalk marks. Many people have found it a helpful automobile accessory. They use it to wipe steam off the windshield.

If you dislike a high glaze on furniture, you can tone it down somewhat with diluted denatured alcohol or diluted vinegar. Dip very thick cheesecloth into the solution and wring it out. Then go over the furniture quickly and lightly.

In choosing your summer sweaters for cover-up on cool days, try giving them glitter trim. Many stores carry assortments of rhinestones, bugle beads and "pearls" with which you can create your own designs or your monogram.

A handy knife rack is a real necessity in the kitchen. It will keep knives in good order and out of the drawers where the edges may become dulled or nicked. You can select your knife easily and avoid a possible painful cut at the same time.

Synthetic Variations

Orlon, nylon and dacron sheers come in both woven and tricot types—ranging from smooth surfaces to almost bark-like textures. There is a new nylon chiffon, notable for its draping qualities and interesting mat finish. Baby cords are new in sheers, and flocked or printed fabrics in frosty effects promise to be popular.

Particularly important are synthetic twills, tweeds and surahs, many in blends of orlon and silk. Watery surfaces are leaders among them. There is an airy, drapable batiste and a sturdy basket-weave that combine cotton with dacron. Orlon and cotton make a lustrous chambray in woven stripes and a heavier fabric that resembles fine denim.

Orlon and rayon blend into a lightweight knit for suiting with a hand-loomed look. Another rayon, acetate and nylon blend is a velvety knit that feels like cashmere, yet is strong and washable. All-dacron makes a linen-like fabric for a variety of sports and dressy styles.

When stones fall out of your costume jewelry, use colorless nail polish to paste them back in. It can also be used to put together light glassware.

Renew the soft lustre of pearls or amber beads occasionally by rubbing them gently with a piece of flannel that has been dipped lightly in olive oil.

QUICK MANICURES AND SHIRT-IRONINGS

Weird Contests Feature This Year's Toronto 'Ex

TORONTO (BUP)—The Canadian National Exhibition, which customarily puts on competitions ranging from swimming meets to cooking contests, is going all-hog this year with some of the weirdest contests to date.

For instance, there will be a $25 cash prize offered for the lucky lady who can give herself the quickest manicure. Elsa Jenkins, manager of women's activities at the CNE, feels this will give entrants an opportunity to demonstrate the practice they have had at the art. She says clothes make the women but nails make the hand. If you are more at home in the kitchen than in the fashion parade, you have the chance to share in $376 being given away as cash prizes in baking and preserving competitions.

In the most unusual contest this year, the CNE is awarding $50 to the couple (male and female) judged best in a pin curl competition. Instead of hubby concentrating on pin-ups, for a change, he can pin-up friend frau's crowning glory.

Other unusual contests include a sock darning competition. Only one requisite for this number: your socks must have holes in them. Since this is a national malady, any number of contestants are expected. If you are expert at ironing shirts, having got a lot of practice out of Monday's wash, you might pick up an extra $50 in the iron-a-shirt contest on September 4. The entry fee is 25 cents and you bring your own cotton broadcloth shirt.

Last but not least, there is a contest for everybody. A cash prize of $75 will be offered on how to improve the CNE.

Peanut in Throat Kills B.C. Infant

VANCOUVER (BUP)—A two-year-old girl, Ariq Harris, died Tuesday, one hour after a peanut lodged in her windpipe.

The child, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Herbert Harris of Ocean Falls, was rushed to Vancouver General Hospital but died before she could be taken to the operating room.

A hospital official said a child died similarly last year when a piece of carrot lodged in her air passage.

"It is extremely dangerous to allow small children peanuts," a doctor said.

4% Fewer Car-Riding Tourists In City This Year; Spending Down

By AB KENT

Tourist activity in Victoria is in full swing in spite of inclement weather during the early summer, but tourists are no longer buying the luxury items they sought in past years.

Reports from tourist information bureau and Chamber of Commerce officials state that tourist buying, today consists mainly of smaller items, valued at about one-tenth the amount considered "luxury."

It is part of a national trend, as figures show Canadians to be spending more abroad today than visitors spend annually in this country.

Local customs statistics show also that fewer persons per car came from the United States in to the port of Victoria and Sidney up to June than in the same period in 1953.

This year, 61,000 passengers were checked off in the two ports compared with 63,677 a year ago.

Number of cars tabulated, mostly from the United States, which is the chief source of tourists, was 22,600, an increase of 300 over the first five months of 1953.

George Warren, publicity bureau manager, says his office has been deluged with letter inquiries from all parts of the continent. People want to know what they can do in Victoria, what they can buy and how much it's going to cost them.

Hector, Crombie, Chamber of Commerce business manager, feels it is definitely a buyer's market in the tourist business, even though travelers are plentiful.

There has been no official local survey to estimate just what proportions of tourist dollars are spent on such things as accommodations, transportation, food and various types of other purchases, but rough estimates show individual items apart from necessities to fall in the $10 to $20 range.

LONGER HOURS

Increased tourist activity in Victoria since the beginning of July has meant longer hours for publicity bureau personnel. Instead of the regular eight-hour day, the bureau's hours have been extended to 10½ hours daily.

Office opens at 8:15 a.m. and remains open until 7 p.m.

Officials believe that large scale spending by Canadians abroad is liable to continue this year as figures show $67,000,000 was spent in the first three months of 1954. Visitors to Canada laid out $24,000,000 in the same interval, a drop of $2,000,000 from 1953.

Canadians evidently still love the glitter of U.S. showplaces, but Americans are demanding more for their money. Many are taking cash abroad.

In 1938, Canada had a surplus of $63,000,000 in tourist spending, but in 1953 the national balance tipped the other way to show a deficit of exactly the same figure.

In fact, in the last 15 years, Canadian tourist spending abroad has increased four times, giving a new high of $365,000,000.

POWER LINK COMPLETED TO KITIMAT SMELTER

KITIMAT, B.C. (CP) — The Aluminum Company of Canada will close the switch linking the Kemano generators to the Kitimat smelter today or Thursday.

The switch ceremony will climax test transmissions and generator operation in recent weeks as equipment was run in. Current will not go straight into the potlines, which are almost ready to start heating, but will be dissipated into the ground for the time being.

Gradual heating up of the long potlines to receive the alumina for smelting into ingot will start shortly. First ingot production is set for early August.

ASTROLOGICAL FORECAST

THURSDAY, JULY 15, 1954

ARIES (March 21 to April 19)—Sit back, objectively engaged in observing all that's happening, while others let the cat out of the bag about their ire, for then you can avoid trouble, and aid others. Be understanding.

TAURUS (April 20 to May 20)—At last you feel a more happy vibration about you, but it's necessary you avoid giving vent to exuberance or others, less protected, feel you are poking fun at them. Be courteously considerate, friendly, happy.

47 CARS FOR SALE

GEMINI (May 21 to June 21)—Great urge to shoot the financial works on frivolities, or what appears to be sound but where chance is taken, should be severely repressed. Be economical instead this day.

CANCER (June 22 to July 21)—Letting scrappy, over-energetic partner get you disturbed is just what he wants. Instead, keep poised, calm, conscientious and you turn likely disappointment into profound respect from others.

47 CARS FOR SALE

LEO (July 22 to Aug. 21)—Fussing about what you can't help is unworthy of your generosity, fine mind, keen perception. Refuse to look at dark side of things—take the light of your planetary ruler, the Sun, wherever you go.

VIRGO (Aug. 22 to Sept. 22)—Separation from staunch supporter, devoted attachment easily avoided by concentrating upon helping them with their problems rather than beefing about yours. Be generous, magnanimous, kind.

IF YOUR CHILD IS BORN THURSDAY . . . Thursday's child is one of those very interesting youngsters who has to learn early in life that you catch more favors with molasses than with acids, so teach from earliest understanding days that a smile dissolves opposition where sharp comments merely add fuel to any flames of annoyance. Your progeny will be a worker, so see to it that a very practical, down-to-earth training is secured during teenage, when highly able traits can be developed and used in business courses after maturity.

Hometowners Entertain Veterans

Patients at the Veterans' Hospital were treated to a rollicking musical show Tuesday night, through courtesy of Fred Usher and His Hometowners.

Musicians, who appeared by permission of Victoria local 247, AFM, played popular, novelty, variety and comedy music, and led veterans in a sing-song.

The six-man group are all veterans themselves, and try to make their hospital appearances on a quarterly basis.

Assisting the orchestra was popular pianist Al Smith.

Los Angeles Mother Guilty Of Breaking Child's Arms

LO SANGELES (UP) — Mrs. Trinidad Vera, mother of eight children, was convicted Monday by a Superior Court jury on six counts of assault for breaking the arms of her nine-year-old daughter, Celia Sanchez, and nearly blinding the child.

The jury of eight women and four men deliberated for two and a half hours before returning the verdict. Mrs. Vera faces a possible maximum sentence of 64 years in prison.

She was convicted on four counts of assault with means to do great bodily injury; one count of assault with a deadly weapon and one count of mayhem. The 29-year-old housewife received the verdict without any show of emotion.

Mrs. Vera had pleaded innocent by reason of insanity also, and the sanity proceedings will begin before the same judge and jury Thursday.

In final arguments, deputy district attorney Evan Lewis said that only fear of a murder charge kept Mrs. Vera from killing her daughter.

SHOWBOAT TO FEATURE CITY AMATEUR TALENT

As much local amateur talent as possible will be used in Victoria's Showboat in the inner harbor, chairman Fred Usher said today.

First Showboat performance is Friday night, with the following evening set aside for amateurs. Thereafter, amateur nights will be Friday.

Auditions begin tonight at 7 in CJVI studios, Fort Street.

Contestants, who must be 10 or more, are asked to bring their own music, but an accompanist will be provided.

At the end of the season, winners will receive prizes of $100, $50 and $25, with a souvenir prize to every participant.

Director Dead

HOLLYWOOD (AP) — Movie director Irving Pichel, 63, died Tuesday as his latest movie, one dealing with the life of Christ, was having its first showing.

The one-time actor died from a heart attack in his La Canada home.

Pichel had directed such movies as "Mr. Peabody and the Mermaid" and "Destination Moon." Last year he directed "Martin Luther" for the Lutheran Church.

$325,000 From Comico For Sports

TRAIL—Gifts of recreational facilities totaling about $325,000 to Trail, Rossland and Fruitvale were announced Tuesday by R. W. Diamond, executive vice-president, western region, on behalf of the Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Canada Limited.

For Trail, the company will provide a large modern gymnasium with seating for 900 spectators and all other necessary facilities at a cost of about $275,000. The building will form a planned extension of the Trail Memorial Centre which already houses a number of community facilities, including the ice arena presented by Comico in 1949.

Forty thousand dollars will be given to Rossland for the completion of its ice arena.

Fruitvale will receive $10,000 toward the cost of completing its Memorial Hall.

LINDBERGH

speaks out on U.S. defense

Fearful new weapons call for drastic new defense measures. How can the United States best protect itself? Brig. Gen. Charles A. Lindbergh, USAFR, outlines the three basic steps that, in his opinion, represent our best chance to survive.

A new LESLIE FORD MYSTERY

"Invitation to Murder"

She was 18. If she lived to be 22, she would inherit a fortune through the Maloney Trust. If she died before then, her relatives would get it. Finlay had met her relatives. That's why he called the Trust an "I to M" — Invitation to Murder.

First victims of the H-bomb

On March 1, we exploded a hydrogen bomb at Bikini. The blast rocked a Japanese fishing boat 75 miles away. What happened to its 23 crewmen — then and later? Why can't our doctors learn the full truth? Here are the Grim Facts of the H-Bomb Accident. (Article by Robert Sherrod.)

NAT King COLE

In 1937 he got $26.50 a week as a honky-tonk piano player. Now he gets nearly $400,000 a year for singing. But it has been no easy road, writes Richard G. Hubler, for the $12,000-a-Week Preacher's Boy.

ASSIZES TRIAL FOR PETURSSON

Prosecutor Charges Victoria Man Was Both Inspector and Contractor

FORT WILLIAM, Ont. (BUP)—Two construction companies and four individuals have been ordered to stand trial at the Fall Assizes on charges of conspiring to defraud the Ontario government on highway contracts.

8 Motorists Pay Fines in Colwood Court

Highway infractions resulted in a flurry of fines in Colwood court Tuesday.

Magistrate A. I. Thomas fined Len Kozak of Nanaimo $25 and $5 costs for speeding, Robert A. Simpson, Royal Roads, $10 and $3.50 costs for the same offense, and Juliet Kendall of Victoria $15 and $5.50 costs for failing to submit accident reports.

William L. Dunn, Nanaimo, paid $15 and $15 costs for failing to yield half the highway to oncoming traffic and Marcel L. J. Menu, HMCS Naden, was fined $25 and $4.50 costs for driving without a license.

Robert J. Erwin, Crofton, paid $10 for crossing a solid white line in passing and Pat Strachan, Langford, paid $25 and $3.50 costs for taking up more than his share of the road.

William J. Morrow paid $10 and $3.50 costs for a violation of the motor carrier act.

QCA Backs Its Use of Canso Planes

VANCOUVER (CP)—A spokesman for Queen Charlotte Airlines told the Air Transport Board Tuesday that its Canso aircraft would not be obsolete for its Prince Rupert service for another 10 to 15 years.

A. J. Jim Spilsbury, president and managing director of QCA said at the second day of the board's hearings into northern B.C. air service that "We're not worried about the Canso becoming obsolete in the next 10 or 15 years."

He was referring to a request by representatives of the Prince Rupert Board of Trade placed before the board Monday. John Magor of Prince Rupert had asked the board to consider construction of an airport at the northern B.C. port. Mr. Magor said the Canso was obsolete but no other suitable seaplane was available for the service.

QCA uses two Cansos in its Kitimat service, said Mr. Spilsbury. With those aircraft, it could comfortably handle all the traffic if the company was given sole rights to the area. QCA is seeking approval of an application for a class one service to Kitimat. QCA and Pacific Western Airlines now operate class two services to the big aluminum development.

Truck, Car Crash Kills 3 in Ontario

MANCHESTER, Ont. (CP)—Three men were killed and another critically injured Tuesday night when a truck carrying four tons of roofing material was hit by a car near here.

Police identified the victims: Stephen Kemp, 41, of Oshawa; Michael L. Hunt, 43, of Oshawa; and Lorne Frayne, 28, of Peterborough. George Klem of Oshawa was taken to hospital in critical condition. Two men in the truck escaped unhurt.

All four men were occupants of the car.

YOU MAY HAVE PIN-WORMS AND NOT KNOW IT!

Fidgeting, nose-picking and a tormenting rectal itch are often tell-tale signs of Pin-Worms... ugly parasites that medical experts say infest one out of every three persons examined. Entire families may be victims and not know it. To get rid of Pin-Worms, these pests must not only be killed, but killed in the large intestine where they live and multiply. That's exactly what Jayne's P-W tablets do... and here's how they do it: First—a scientific coating carries the tablets into the bowels before they dissolve. Then—Jayne's modern, medically-approved ingredient goes right to work—kills Pin-Worms quickly and easily. Don't take chances with this dangerous, highly contagious condition. At the first sign of Pin-Worms, ask your druggist for genuine Jayne's P-W Vermifuge... the small, easy-to-take tablets perfected by famous Dr. D. $5,000 Hike For Ottawa Deputies

OTTAWA (CP)—The cabinet has increased the salaries of some deputy ministers to $20,000 from $15,000 a year, a treasury board official said Tuesday. The increases, approved by order-in-council a few days ago, are retroactive to July 1.

At the same time, the cabinet increased the salaries of other deputy ministers in the $13,500-class to a minimum of $15,000.

Salary readjustments are expected to be made shortly for senior civil servants in the $10,000-a-year group such as assistant deputy ministers and chairmen of various government boards.

Florence Chadwick's Day

Hi! Our television set, and Mom Chadwick really got a workout Tuesday. It was the day of the annual all-star baseball game at Cleveland.

There are people who just read the box scores and then there are people who go to most of the games and know the batting averages of nearly every player in the big leagues. Then there is Mom Chadwick, one of the hottest baseball fans in the United States of America and surrounding territory.

Believe it not, Mom used to be the manager and coach of a pretty good sand-lot team in San Diego. Her players were all around 21 years old and Mom really had them hustling, especially my brother, Dick, who was captain of the team. The last year Mom had the team, it won the championship of San Diego in its division. Mom then decided to retire, undefeated.

Well, Tuesday was baseball day around our house. We sat around the TV set and ate our meals in the living room. Fortunately, most of our visitors were baseball fans and Mom was a real hostess, whipping up ham sandwiches and potato chips for everyone.

I think, if National League manager Walt Alston had listened to Mom's advice on pitchers, the American League would never have won the game. Mom got quite furious with Mr. Alston when he failed to take out a pitcher who was getting his ears batted off.

Do you remember my young friend Mark, who brought me some raspberries last week. He was back again this week and he brought me some mint candy bars, the very same kind the mountain climbers were looking for when they climbed Mt. Everest. Mark says I shouldn't have too much trouble with the Strait if I eat these bars. With my sweet tooth, the bars may not last that long.

Wilson Motors has come up with something new in the automobile line. They have printed up a huge bundle of colored post cards, with a picture of me in the big Oldsmobile they are lending me. I am signing every one of the cards and will be only too happy to give one to anyone who is interested.

Arbitrator Named for City Dispute

Labor Minister Lyle Wicks today appointed a one-man arbitration board to settle Victoria outside workers' dispute with city council.

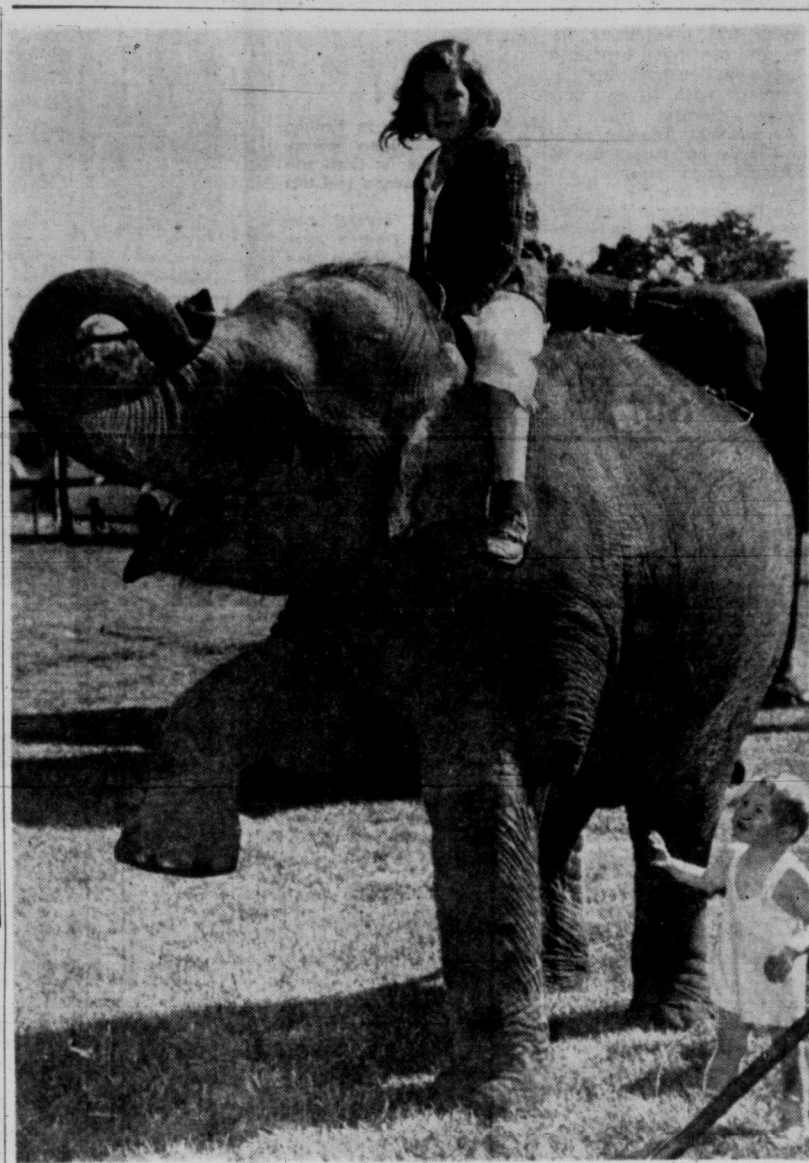

Letters were mailed to the union and council this morning announcing his appointment, but as yet the labor department has not released his name.

The arbitrator will conduct hearings, and the dispute will be settled on the basis of his findings. Both council and the union have agreed the findings shall be binding on both parties.

The joint request for appointment of an arbitrator was made in a meeting with deputy labor minister William Sands.

12 Montreal Children Drowned As Motorboat Capsizes on Lake

MONTREAL (CP)—Grim-faced rescue workers today resumed dragging operations for the bodies of eight of 12 Negro children drowned Tuesday in Lake of Two Mountains when they became panic-stricken and capsized a heavily-laden pleasure boat.

Victims of the tragedy, worst in Montreal's history, were five to 11 years old.

Four bodies had been recovered when police halted dragging operations at dark Tuesday night. No additional bodies had been recovered several hours after the search was resumed at dawn.

Officials of the Negro community centre, sponsors of the ill-fated picnic, said eight children—four boys and four girls—are still unaccounted for and presumed at the bottom of the picturesque lake, 20 miles north-west of Montreal.

The mass drowning, followed a well-meaning gesture of a holidaying Montrealer, Jack Seligman, owner of a cottage on the lake, was himself enjoying a picnic with his son and friends at a sandy inlet on the north side of the lake when he noticed the group of 62 Negro children, ranging in age from six to 10.

As a special treat, he offered to take them for a ride in his 15-foot motorboat. He made two five-minute runs with two groups of youngsters without incident.

On the third, as he rounded a diving raft some 100 yards from shore, a wave broke over the boat. The children became panicky, some of them leaping into the water. As Seligman and Phil Harrison, a counsellor at the day camp, attempted to pull them back into the boat, it capsized.

Horrified vacationers on the beach leaped into the water and

Princess Orders 'Copter Into Driving Rainstorm

BAD OEYNHAUSEN, Germany (UP)—Princess Margaret rode a helicopter into a driving rainstorm for 20 minutes today until the weather forced her to land. She thus achieved her desire to become the first of Britain's royal women to ride one of the craft.

Margaret, determined to beat a jinx which had washed out three attempts to fly by helicopter in the past two days of her tour of West Germany, ordered Flight-Lieutenant J. R. Dowling to take off this morning despite the lowering weather.

"Let's have a trip anyway," she said and boarded the craft for a flight to Sennelager to inspect British armored troops. But the rainstorm and black clouds were too much for Dow-

SECRET JET BOMBER CRASHES IN BRITAIN

CRANFIELD, England (UP)—The world's first crescent-winged jet bomber, the giant four-engined Handley Page Victor, crashed today, killing its crew of four. The plane was the only model of the jet bomber. It had been described as "so perfect it could land by itself." The crash was the latest in a series of "jinx" disasters which have befallen British jet planes. The crescent-winged Victor, a prototype of planes now on super-priority production orders for the RAF, could fly near the speed of sound. It was 100 times as powerful as the heaviest Second World War bomber.

WRANGLE WITH CHURCHILL

Pension Chiang Attlee Demands

LONDON (Reuters)—Sir Winston Churchill engaged in a violent quarrel today with Labor leader Clement Attlee over the issue of seating Communist China in the United Nations.

The prime minister rose in the House of Commons to attack Attlee's statement that the Korean war could not be settled without seating Peiping in the UN and handing over Formosa, seat of the Chinese Nationalist government, to the Communists. Bristling with anger, Churchill declared:

"I am sure to choose a moment as this to try to force the entry of Communist China into the UN would be to complicate altogether the very grave affairs we have to deal with in so many other spheres and would be regarded as a most harsh and uncalled-for act of unfriendliness by the mighty people of the United States, to whom we owe much and from whom no government ever received more than the Labor government."

Attlee spoke today in a one-day debate mainly concerned with Churchill's report Monday on his talks in Washington last month with President Eisenhower. The prime minister had recommended placing the question of Communist China's UN seat in cold storage because of Red China's behavior in Korea and Indo-China.

Attlee recommended that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek be "pensioned off" and his island capital of Formosa be handed over to Communist China.

Attlee also suggested:

1. U.S. State Secretary Dulles should return to the Indo-China talks at Geneva since his absence is "playing right into the hands of the Communists." 2. The United States should not threaten to cut off aid to France and Italy if they fail to ratify the European Army treaty.

3. The anti-Communist invasion of Guatemala was "a plain matter of aggression." Attlee began by criticizing the "rather uninformative" statement Monday from Prime Minister Churchill to the House on his talks in Washington last month with President Eisenhower.

If there are differences between U.S. and British foreign policies, Attlee said, "they should be stated."

On a Korean settlement Attlee said: "I suggest that the thing that stands in the way of a settlement is precisely this—Formosa and a seat on the UN."

Signing May Come On Monday

U.S., Britain, France Reported To Be in Agreement on Formula

By EDWARD M. KERRY

PARIS (UP)—High diplomatic sources said tonight that the United States, France and Britain have worked out a "deal" to pave the way for the signing of an Indo-China peace, possibly by Monday.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was said by these sources to have agreed with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to accept a peace based on partition of Viet Nam—largest of the three Indo-Chinese states—and neutralization of Laos and Cambodia.

Dulles also won President Eisenhower's approval for Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith to return to Geneva on Saturday to sit in on the final negotiations.

Eden and Mendes-France returned to Geneva this afternoon and Eden immediately paid a call on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Geneva dispatches said negotiators there believe the peace agreement will be wrapped up and ready for signature by Monday.

ALLIED PLEDGE

In exchange for this modification of United States policy, these sources said, France and Britain have pledged to help work out a plan to guarantee southeast Asia against any future Communist aggression and to strike back the moment Red invaders attempt any new conquests.

Dulles is flying back to Washington tonight to report in detail on the Paris agreements to President Eisenhower.

The United States abandoned its "hands-off" policy on the Geneva conference after emergency meetings which began Tuesday night and concluded today among Dulles, Mendes-France and Eden.

Mendes-France is pressing for an agreement on Indo-China within six days and Dulles apparently became convinced during his talks here that the prospects for an "honorable" peace are good.

A four paragraph communiqué announced the decision to return Smith to the conference but at Dulles' insistence it underlined that he would do so "without department from the principles" the U.S. revision had laid down.

TOKYO (UP)—Sea and air forces of the United States and its allies were prepared today to race to Haiphong and Hanoi if Communist attacks force an Indo-Chinese "Dunkerque."

The U.S. Navy said its forces in the Far East were "available" in case Washington orders them to go to the rescue of foreign nationals. French troops and possibly thousands of Viet Namee natives who choose to flee the Communists.

General Peckham called the non-confidence motion "an appalling and unheard of thing," and asked for a conference between Finlayson and B.C. federal Conservative leaders in an attempt to iron out the dispute.

Toronto Controllers Walk Out As New Mayor Bars Reporters

TORONTO (BUP)—Toronto's new mayor, Leslie Saunders, cancelled a "secret" board of control meeting today after two controllers walked out because he would not admit the press.

The two controllers denounced Saunders for what they called "autocracy," and the mayor shouted at newsmen trying to attend the meeting: "You'll obey me."

Saunders had called the all-day meeting, which he described as a conference, to discuss business which was said to include a mortgage held against the harbor commission and the resignation of parks commissioner Oscar Pearson.

When he announced the press would be barred, both controller Roy Belyea and controller David Balfour left the meeting. Belyea charged Saunders with trying to conduct a "benevolent autocracy." Balfour said he would have "no part" of conducting public business except in public.

After the two controllers left, three Toronto news reporters walked into the meeting and said their editors had instructed them to cover it. "You are no gentlemen," the

MP QUIT; NEW REVOLT THREATENS CHURCHILL

LONDON (Reuters)—A Conservative member of parliament resigned today from the party as a protest against Prime Minister Churchill's Egypt and Sudan policy.

His action highlighted a fresh rebellion by about 40 of the prime minister's back-bench supporters in parliament over the Anglo-Egyptian Suez Canal zone base negotiations. The resigning Conservative, Maj. E. A. H. Legge-Bourke, told reporters today: "I will continue to sit in parliament as an Independent... though my resignation has been precipitated by the government's decision to reopen negotiations with Egypt on terms which include the total evacuation of British troops from Egyptian territory, my disagreement with the present Conservative party lies deeper than this."

He declared: "From Palestine, Burma, India, Persia, the Sudan and now Egypt the ignominious retreat has gone on."

Body of Fifth Child Recovered

MONTREAL (CP)—The body of an unidentified girl, one of 12 Negro children drowned Tuesday when a heavily-laden boat overturned, was recovered today by searchers dragging the Lake of Two Mountains, 20 miles northwest of Montreal.

Four bodies were found Tuesday and seven are still missing. Inquest into the tragedy—worst drowning accident in Montreal's history—was opened by chief coroner R. L. Duckett and adjourned until next week.

B.C. Forests Products Behind Pulp Mill

VANCOUVER (CP)—An official of B.C. Forest Products Ltd. said here today his company is considering property just south of Chemainus, B.C., on Vancouver Island, as a site for a pulp mill. The property, at Crofton, B.C., is owned by the firm. (Both Mayor Wragg of Duncan and Premier Bennett have recently indicated Crofton would be the site of a pulp mill.)

Dulles Leaves for U.S. Satisfied

PARIS (Reuters)—U.S. State Secretary Dulles left by air tonight for Washington after telling reporters he was "very satisfied" with the Big Three Indo-China talks here.

Boy Dies Under Anaesthetic

OTTAWA (CP)—A 12-year-old boy died under anaesthetic today while having teeth extracted in the office of a dentist in suburban Eastview.

An autopsy was made immediately on the body of the victim, Raymond Whissell of Eastview.

Results of the post-mortem were not immediately announced but coroner Dr. Harry Dover said an inquest undoubtedly will be held.

PM's Pilot Will Fly Duke

OTTAWA (CP)—The same pilot who led the global flight of Prime Minister St. Laurent this year has been chosen as captain of the Duke of Edinburgh's flight for his Canadian tour.

He is Wing Cmdr. H. A. Morrison, 33, of Winnipeg and Lauder, Man., who commands No. 412 Squadron, which operates long-range aircraft from nearby Rockcliffe airport.

Vancouver Firms Lose Appeal

LONDON (CP)—The judicial committee of the Privy Council today rejected an appeal brought by two Vancouver firms against a judgment by the Supreme Court of Canada.

The firms, Lipsett Engine and Manufacturing Co. Ltd. and Heaps Waterous Ltd., sought special leave to appeal from a decision which awarded $89,650 in damages against them.

The case arose from the destruction by fire in December, 1948, of a saw and planing mill at Prince George, B.C.

Laurier Monument Up in October

QUEBEC (CP)—A monument to Sir Wilfrid Laurier, French-speaking prime minister of Canada from 1896 to 1911, will probably be erected in October in a lower town park.

Emile Brunet, Canadian sculptor who has been commissioned for the work, visited Lt.-Col. Oscar Gilbert, chairman of the monument committee, during the week-end and said the bronze statue will be shipped from Paris to Quebec in September.

Welch Tops Canadian Golf With Four-Under-Par 67

POINT GREY GOLF CLUB, Vancouver (CP)—Bill Welch of Kennewick, Wash., cracked four strokes off par with a 67 today to take the early lead in the opening round of the Canadian Open golf championship.

Welch did all his par-breaking on the front nine with a 32, coming back in even par 35.

Two other west coast pros—Eddie Hogan of Portland and Ockie Eliason of Tacoma—finished two strokes away from Welch with 69s.

About one-fourth of the field of 125 had then finished. Pat Fletcher of Saskatoon, out in 32, appeared at that time to be Welch's closest threat.

Other scores: Lyle Crawford, Vancouver, 36-40—76; Doug Silverberg, Red Deer, Alta., 38-38—76; Ernie Tate, Vancouver, 38-35—73; Jock McKinnon, Vancouver, 40-38—78; Willie Lamb, Toronto, 37-37—74; Ben Coik, Vancouver, 37-39—76; Bob Gray, Toronto, 39-38—77; Al Zimmerman, Paradise Valley, Ariz., 36-34—70; Doug Bajus, Vancouver, 37-35—72.

Mr. Young quit following his suspension by the provincial executive pending a hearing on a complaint that he had made a statement misrepresenting the party and bringing it into "undeserved disrepute."

Root of the battle is a claim by the anti-Drews that the provincial party has been deserted and that Social Credit has been aided in the provincial field, with the consent of Drew.

New CCF Charges Against Rod Young

VANCOUVER (CP)—The executive of the CCF today filed three new complaints against Rod Young, former CCF member of parliament who resigned from the party Sunday.

Mr. Young quit following his suspension by the provincial executive pending a hearing on a complaint that he had made a statement misrepresenting the party and bringing it into "undeserved disrepute."

Officials of the Negro community centre, sponsors of the ill-fated picnic, said eight children—four boys and four girls—were still unaccounted for and presumed at the bottom of the picturesque lake, 20 miles northwest of Montreal.

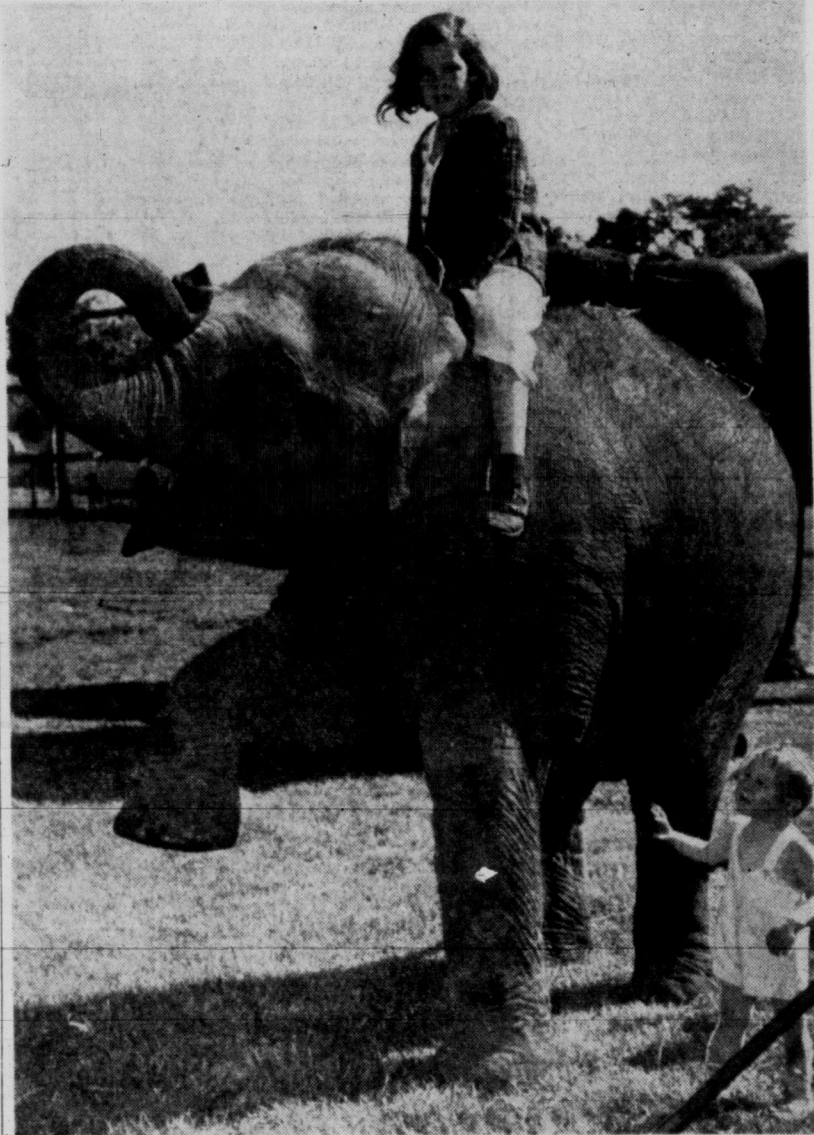

The mass drowning, followed a well-meaning gesture of a holidaying Montreal baker, Jack Seligman, owner of a cottage on the lake, was himself enjoying a picnic with his son and friends at a sandy inlet on the north he and Harrison attempted to pull their companions back to safety. He said he manoeuvred the boat so that they could hang onto the sides and be towed into shallow water but the terror-stricken children failed to grasp it.

Two youngsters were saved by Gordon Hendren, 38, of nearby Ste. Genevieve, Que., who rowed from the beach to the spot where the children were floundering in the water.

Horror-stricken vacationers on the beach leaped into the water and rescued four children. The others sank in an estimated 10 feet of water.

Seligman said more children kept leaping into the water as

Big 3 Agree On Plan

Smith Going Back To Geneva Talks

By EDWARD M. KORRY

PARIS (UP)—High diplomatic sources said tonight that the United States, France and Britain have worked out a "deal" to pave the way for signing of an Indo-China peace, possibly by Monday.

U.S. Secretary of State John Foster Dulles was said by these sources to have agreed with French Premier Pierre Mendes-France and British Foreign Secretary Anthony Eden to accept a peace based on partition of Viet Nam—largest of the three Indo-Chinese states—and neutralization of Laos and Cambodia.

Dulles also won President Eisenhower's approval for Undersecretary of State Walter Bedell Smith to return to Geneva on Saturday to sit in on the final negotiations.

Eden and Mendes-France returned to Geneva this afternoon and Eden immediately paid a call on Soviet Foreign Minister V. M. Molotov.

Geneva dispatches said negotiators there believe the peace agreement will be wrapped up and ready for signature by Monday.

ALLIED PLEDGE

In exchange for this modification of United States policy, these sources said, France and Britain have pledged to help work out a plan to guarantee southeast Asia against any future Communist aggression and to strike back the moment Red invaders attempt any new conquests.

Dulles is flying back to Washington tonight to report in detail on the Paris agreements to President Eisenhower.

The United States abandoned its "hands-off" policy on the Geneva conference after emergency meetings which began Tuesday night and concluded today among Dulles, Mendes-France and Eden.

Mendes-France is pressing for an agreement on Indo-China within six days and Dulles apparently became convinced during his talks here that the prospects for an "honorable" peace are good.

A four paragraph communiqué announced the decision to return Smith to the conference but at Dulles' insistence it underlined that he would do so "without departure from the principles" the U.S. previously had laid down.

SECRET JET BOMBER CRASHES IN BRITAIN

CRANFIELD, England (UP)—The world's first crescent-winged jet bomber, the giant four-engine Handley Page Victor, crashed today, killing its crew of four.

The plane was the only model of the jet bomber. It had been described as "so perfect it could land by itself."

The crescent-winged Victor, a prototype of planes now on super-priority production orders for the RAF, could fly near the speed of sound. It was 100 times as powerful as the heaviest Second World War bomber.
